gton Hopes to Meet ons From Adenauer

(AP) — The have narrowed the area of negoti- / denied most ations open to Secretary of State Dean Rusk. Western troops U.S. officials here and in Bonn were reported striving to win full approval from West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer to four major negotiating proposals circulated to allied governments by Rusk last week.

Adenauer continued to oppose strenuously any offer of a concession to the Russians, which in his view would move toward recognition of the Communist East German government.

The Berlin garrison totals some 12,500 troops of which over half are American. The Post story, by Flora Lewis under a Bonn date-line, said the reported offer would bring this down to about 3,000 each from the three occupying powers.

Such a reduction would call for withdrawal of a little more than 50 per cent of U.S. forces now in Berlin, withdrawal of a few hundred British troops and an increase in the French garrison.

Deadlock Unbroken

The talks opening here today between Rusk and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin were scheduled for midafternoon. Rusk's previous round of discussions with Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in Geneva ended three weeks ago.

The Rusk-Gromyko talks failed to break the long East-West deadlock over Berlin, but were followed by a sharp decline in East-West tensions. The Soviets stopped harassing Western aircraft in the

Ticker Tape Welcome for Iran's Royalty

Shah Sees Military Maneuvers, Inspects Canaveral Facilities

NEW YORK (AP) — The Shah and Empress of Iran get the city's official ticker tape parade of welcome today following a weekend apart in pursuit of their own special interests.

For Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, that included observation of military maneuvers and inspection of missile sites and other facilities at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

For Empress Farah, it was a night at the theater and visits to two art museums — the Guggenheim and the Museum of Modern Art.

Back From Florida

The empress arrived from Washington Saturday. The shah, with a brief stint at the controls of President Kennedy's four-engine plane, flew up from Florida Sunday night to join her at a private dinner given by Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Mrs. Patrick Lehman, left, and her son, Jason, 3, in her lap, died in a fire at their Wisconsin Rapids home early Sunday. Mrs. Lehman formerly was of Kaukauna. At left is her husband, and oldest son, Michael, 7, who escaped the flames by climbing out a second story window onto a porch roof. Both Mr. and Mrs. Lehman were graduated from Kaukauna High School, where they were active in school clubs and sports.

Wisconsin Rapids Firemen Find Mrs. Patrick Lehman; Older Son, Husband Escape

WISCONSIN RAPIDS — A former Kaukauna resident and her young son perished in a fire here during the early morning hours Sunday.

Dead are Mrs. Patrick Lehman, 30, and her son, Jason, 3. They were asphyxiated. Mrs. Lehman is the former Diane Derus, daughter of Mrs. Harold K. (Helen) Derus, 417½ Dixon St., Kaukauna. Mrs. Derus is a kindergarten teacher at Appleton's McKinley School. The late Mr. Derus was a one-time city editor of the Post-Crescent.

Appleton Store Reports Theft of Furs

Appleton police are looking for four persons in a 1960 Cadillac with Illinois license plates for questioning of a fur theft from Geenens Department Store, 122 E. College Ave., about noon today.

Henry Williamson, department manager, said two women were in his store and made purchases before the furs, valued at more than $1,000, were discovered missing.

Police said there may be two more men in the Cadillac with the two women.

He was a 1950 graduate of Kaukauna High School, where he was active in basketball, baseball, track and football. He also had been president of the student council and co-captain of the football team as a senior.

Wakened by Son

Wisconsin Rapids Fire Chief Cloud Vallin said the fire apparently started about 3 a.m. from a cigarette smoldering in a sofa. The Lehmans had come in late from a party, he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Lehman were wakened by their oldest son, Michael, 7, about 5 a.m. Lehman and the boy escaped by climbing out a window of the second floor room to a porch roof. Michael was dropped into the arms of James Galsanski, who was passing by on his way to church.

Vallin said Mrs. Lehman apparently ran downstairs to learn the cause of the fire. Her body was found on the floor in the kitchen. A second son, Jason, 3, perished on the floor of his parents' bedroom. Mr. Lehman was unable to re-enter the house because of intense heat.

Three Perish

In the other fire three of the children of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Olson were burned to death Saturday night when flames destroyed the family's farm home five miles north of New Richmond in St. Croix County. The dead are Gwendolyn, 8, and her brothers, James, 6, and Jeffrey, 5. Another of the family's children, Curtis, escaped without injury.

Curtis told St. Croix County sheriff's men he was unable to reach his sister and brothers because of the flames. He was unable to call the fire department because the phone melted. The parents were visiting in New Richmond at the time.

Curtis said earlier in the evening several of the children had been playing with matches in an upstairs bedroom and started a fire in the mattress. He said he dragged the burning mattress outside and poured several buckets of water on it. Thinking he had extinguished the blaze, Curtis and the other children went to bed. He awoke sometime later to find the house in flames.

Excommunicated By Archbishop In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Roman Catholic archbishop of New Orleans today excommunicated three persons in a segregation feud, including Louisiana political boss, Leander H. Perez Sr.

Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel also excommunicated Mrs. B. J. Gaillot Jr. and Citizens' Council official, Jackson G. Ricau of New Orleans.

Mrs. Gaillot, 41, leader of a small segregation group, Save Our Nation, picketed the archbishop's residence the day he ordered parochial schools to be desegregated.

Perez is a long-time political boss of St. Bernard and Plaquemines Parishes (counties). He has been a leading figure in the fight against integration in Louisiana.

Ricau is executive secretary of the pro-segregation Citizens' Council of South Carolina.

Mrs. Gaillot said: "His excellency has no right to make that official without notifying me first. His accusations are false. And the Vatican will have to intervene."

Funeral Services

Sheriff's men said the fire in the mattress apparently had not been extinguished completely and burst into flames again as it lay against the house, setting fire to the wall.

Mrs. Lehman was a 1949 graduate of Kaukauna High School, where she had been active in school publications, forensics, homecoming, honor society, student council, chorus and Quill and Scroll Society. She was born Aug. 26, 1932, at Kaukauna.

Jason, 3, was born Sept. 21, 1958, at Stevens Point.

Double funeral services will be at 11 a.m. Tuesday at Fargo Funeral Home, Kaukauna, with the Rev. Peter Salm, St. Mary Catholic Church, in charge. Burial will be in Highland Park, Appleton. Friends may call after 2 p.m. today.

Subpoenas Issued for Heads Of 12 Largest Steel Firms

Senate Bill Proposes Broader Powers to Curb Monopolies

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to strengthen the government's power to break up monopolistic corporations was on its way to the Senate today while Senate subpoenas were being sped to the dozen largest steel companies.

The massive assault mounted by President Kennedy against a steel's $6-a-ton increase was still rolling, though the price boost was rescinded Friday.

The battle's aftermath found the stock market at a 1962 low, Kennedy's prestige at a new high, and the prospects for his whole legislative program considered suddenly brighter.

3 Bills Prepared

Pressing ahead with its announced antimonopoly investigation, the Senate Antitrust subcommittee headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., wrote subpoenas for the 12 top companies to bring in figures on production by mid-May.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., prepared to introduce three bills today to sharpen the teeth of the antitrust laws.

Gore said the need for better protection of the public was proved by "this whole episode in which the steel companies made almost uniform price increases and then rescinded them."

His bills would not have been given an outside chance of passage a week ago. Now they must be regarded seriously, especially since Democratic legislators can be expected to capitalize on the

Gov. Nelson Doubts Reynolds Will Force State Redistricting

MADISON (AP)—Gov. Gaylord Nelson indicated today he doubts Atty. Gen. John Reynolds will succeed in his campaign to force reapportionment of Wisconsin's political districts during this election year.

Nelson noted that time is working against the Democratic state officer since the May 11 opening date for filing nomination papers is less than a month away.

Reynolds filed suit Friday in Madison asking Wisconsin's Western District U.S. Court to appoint a three-judge panel and a special master to reapportion the state or order all legislative and congressional candidates to run at large in the November general election.

In an at-large election, all candidates are pitted in a statewide race with seats going to the top finishers regardless of their home districts.

35 More Tests for X15 Rocket Planes

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The National Aeronautics and Space Administration is planning at least 35 more flights for the X15 rocket plane in the next two years.

The plane is expected to attain altitudes of 100 miles at maximum speeds of 4,000 m.p.h.

Wounded Men Arrive

Ransomed Prisoner Tells How It Feels to Be Back With Relatives

By Humberto Cortina Lopez

(As told to Charles Whited and Carlos Martinez)

It's like a dream. I woke up Sunday morning in that soft, soft bed in my grandfather's house and the first thing I thought was, I'm still dreaming.

I expected to see... well, I expected to see something else.

It was the same feeling I had Saturday, when the airplane touched down and we saw all those people. We didn't expect so many.

Family Welcomes Him

I walked down the steps—and it was very difficult with my legs—and the first one I saw was Mara, my sister. She is 19. As I reached the last step, she was there.

She was crying. I was almost crying, too. She helped me to walk. And immediately came my mother (Maria Cortina). She grabbed me and started to kiss me, and her tears were wet. Then my cousins, and my grandfather, Jose Manuel Cortina. I had to walk so slow, very slow. I looked up and I saw the flag of Cuba. I cried, then.

Humberto Cortina Lopez, 20, and his boyhood friend, Humberto Guerra Godoy, 23, were among the 60 sick or wounded brought to this country from Cuba. This is the story Cortina told to the Chicago Daily News Service in Miami of how it feels to be free again.

I went to the hospital immediately. I was one of the first who went in. The doctor saw me there. He said the central nerves of both legs were almost gone, and that I needed neurosurgery. He said he hoped I would recover. It would be a long process, he said.

I had a chicken, almost a whole chicken, cooked the Cuban way. I don't feel anything in my foot.

The doctors haven't decided whether it was one or two bullets that hit me. They think it was two.

I saw the gun that did it. I saw the flash of it in the night. I still have pain in both legs. It is with me all the time. Sometimes I almost lose consciousness from the pain. I think a time or two I have.

I am in pain now, as I talk to you.

Visited by Kin

Anyway, from the hospital Humberto (Guerra) and I went to my grandfather's house. My grandmother is very ill, but she was so glad to see me. It was a very emotional moment.

So many people came. Cousins and uncles and aunts and friends. They asked us about our wounds. Humberto is partially blind in one eye. Mine, of course, is the legs. Then we had supper. Oh, that supper!

I had a chicken, almost a whole chicken, cooked the Cuban way. I don't feel anything in my foot.

Europeans Lynched By Mob of Moslems

Algerian Command Warns
French to Take Stronger
Steps Against Secret Army

ALGIERS (AP) — A Moslem mob lynched two Europeans near Algiers Sunday as the Algerian nationalist command warned the French to take stronger steps against the European Secret Army Organization.

The Secret Army Organization is known as the OAS.

In the first act of mass Moslem violence since the March 19 cease-fire, enraged youths stopped a car in the Maison Carre, industrial suburb nine miles southeast of Algiers. They dragged out the three men inside, beat them with rocks and sticks and set the car afire. Two of the Europeans were killed and the third critically injured.

Elsewhere in Algeria white terrorists killed four Moslems and wounded 28.

Secret Army terrorists driving through Moslem suburbs have shot down Moslem civilians nearly every day since the cease-fire. At least 250 Moslems have perished in Algiers alone. The terrorists are trying to provoke the Moslems into reprisals on a civil war scale that will block Algeria's advance toward independence.

Since the cease-fire, the Moslems have mostly headed admonitions by nationalist leaders to stay calm despite violence against them.

Big Economic Challenge Has Japan Worried

Fear Common Market
May Result in Less
United States Trade

Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — A great economic debate is now being waged in Japan over how best to meet the challenge of the European Common Market.

Trade protectionists are urging that tariff barriers be retained. Equally vocal are those who argue that tariff walls must come down.

The debate is taking on a more than normal intensity, partly because Japan is on the eve of elections. Just as in the United States, the campaign, oratory tends to take on exaggerated overtones.

U.S. officials say they are confident that the Japanese will "proceed haltingly" to a liberalization of trade.

Want Reassurance

But they recognize both the new problem confronting this island trading nation and the need to reassure it about U.S. intentions.

"We are constantly reassuring them," said one official. "They get very worried about the dialogue they hear coming from the United States these days. They say that the support all of the important officials are giving to the President's trade expansion bill is couched in terms of the European Common Market."

The Japanese are pleading, "Don't isolate us in the Pacific," he said. They are reminding the United States that they are part of the western defensive alliance. They are pointing out that they buy more from the United States than any other foreign country except Canada and are a particularly good customer for farm surplus products. They also sell 30 per cent of their exports here.

Sharp Warning

Impatient over the continuing secret army terrorism, the nationalist command issued a sharp warning from its Tunis headquarters for France to show more energy in breaking the right-wing European resistance to Algerian independence.

"This situation has lasted too long," nationalist leaders said as they gathered for a strategy session to plan the takeover in Algeria. "Every day administrative and economic anarchy has been growing in Oran and certain parts of Algiers and Bone."

The secret army continued to operate virtually unchecked.

Secret army commandos in paratroop uniforms seized Oran's central telephone exchange without opposition Sunday and chased away the outnumbered guard detachment. The secret army men did not interfere with the exchange's operations and withdrew after five hours.

Leaking Gasoline
Tank Creates
Disaster Threat

MCFARLAND (AP) — Fire departments from three communities stood by near here early today as a flood of gasoline from a huge storage tank poured across Highway 51, posing the threat of disaster from fire.

Other than a quickly extinguished blaze in the area, no fires developed and the gasoline was washed away after a three hour period. Traffic was diverted from the area.

The tank was among some 45 owned by the Continental Oil Co. Dane County traffic officers said fumes from the gasoline were strong enough to cause tears. Residents of the area were warned around 1 a.m. to shut off open flames.

Traffic was blocked off from McFarland to the intersection of Highways 12 and 18.

Fire departments from McFarland, Monona and Blooming Grove were on hand to fend off danger developing from even a spark. The gasoline was washed away after 4 o'clock. Cause of the flowage was not determined immediately.

Adolescents Not Immune to Psychoses, Deans Warned

Chicago Daily News Service

CHICAGO — Adolescents are "far from immune" to serious nervous conditions such as schizophrenia and manic depressive psychosis, a Northwestern University psychiatrist says.

"Buck up" talks to a profoundly depressed student may be as futile as urging a tubercular patient not to cough, Dr. Meyer Brown, head neurologist and psychiatrist at Evanston Hospital, told woman deans in convention here.

He urged them to watch for such symptoms as persisting melancholy, bursting into tears "at nothing," unaccountable elation and gregariousness or unusual sexualness.

"If you as an adviser wonder if you need help with a student who is behaving strangely, that's enough — you do need help," Dr. Brown said.

Mayor Lacson Of Manila Dies

Termed Most Colorful Figure
In Southeast Asia

BY ALBERT RAVENHOLT
Chicago Daily News Service

HONG KONG — The Democratic cause has lost its most colorful political champion in Southeast Asia with the death last night of Manila's volcanic tempered Mayor Arsenio Lacson.

Ex-prize fighter, ex-newspaper columnist, former congressman and for 11 years reform mayor of the "Pearl of Orient" Lacson was in the same great tradition as the political bosses who once made Chicago, Boston and a few other American cities such interesting towns to live in.

The muscular master of the platform and idol of Filipino crowds was also more — Lacson was a former guerrilla fighter against the Japanese who worked to make democracy real in the republic the United States helped to launch 15 years ago.

But for his untimely death at age of 49 from a heart attack that betrayed his vigorous style of living, Lacson was in line to become one of the contenders for the presidency of his country.

Arsenio Lacson made an indelible impression upon every visitor to the Philippines who met "Mr. Mayor," as he enjoyed being known. Dressed usually in an open-necked, flashy sport shirt and wearing dark sun glasses even at night, Lacson liked to leave his office, with its milling crowd of job seekers, and tour the city in his special seven-equipper black car. Through the remainder of the day he often "held court" in a hotel lobby or suite or a favorite restaurant.

During the hectic, violent and costly Philippine presidential election last year, Lacson helped tip the scales to insure the election of new President Diosdado Macapagal on the Liberal ticket. The odds all had favored incumbent Nationalista President Carlos P. Garcia, who was supported by virtually every vested interest group.

Grove were on hand to fend off danger developing from even a spark. The gasoline was washed away after 4 o'clock. Cause of the flowage was not determined immediately.

Highway accidents in Wisconsin during the weekend took the lives of 12 persons, including three young people killed in an Iowa County collision Sunday night.

The deaths, plus those of four college students in one accident, increased Wisconsin's 1962 traffic toll to 176, compared with 236 one year ago.

Victims of the collision on Highway 18 between Edmund and Dodgeville Sunday night were Edwin C. Imhoff, 16, Patrick McCarthy, 17, and Jeane McGuire, 17, all of Highland.

Critical Condition

In critical condition were Sheryl McGuire, a twin of the dead girl, Brindley, his wife, Patricia, 27, and their three sons Stanley, 7, Stephen, 4, and Stewart, 3.

Troy E. Olson, 69, of rural Mason, and his wife, Wilhelmina, 64, were killed Saturday night when their car crashed in a ditch about six miles south of Grandview in Bayfield County.

Mrs. Carolyn Pontzloff, 18, of Bailey's Harbor, was killed early Sunday when a car driven by her husband, George, also 18, skidded on icy Highway 57 about six miles north of Sturgeon Bay and nosed into a ditch. Mrs. Pontzloff was thrown from the car.

Fatal Injury

A 57-year-old Milwaukee woman was injured fatally Sunday when she was thrown from the auto in which she was riding when it figured in a collision with another car in southern Milwaukee County. She was Mrs. Emma Kamm.

Also listed Sunday was the death of Bernard Jonet, 24, of Milwaukee, who has been unconscious since he was injured in a two-car crash in Milwaukee Jan. 18.

Kenosha Pilot
Lands Airplane
Despite Trouble

KENOSHA (AP) — A Milwaukee County man discovered Sunday the landing gear on his rented plane wouldn't lock into position but made a safe landing with the help of directions scrawled on a blackboard carried aloft by another plane.

George E. Jacobsen, 35, of St. Francis, has rented the single-engine, retractable landing gear plane to practice landings and takeoffs at the Kenosha Airport.

Jacobsen was approaching the field for the third time when a signal light indicated the retractable landing gear had not locked into the down position. When he tried to use the radio for instructions he found it wasn't working.

Circling slowly over the field, Jacobsen leaned out the window and pointed at the landing gear. Those on the ground understood, called emergency equipment to the field and sent up a plane, with a passenger writing instructions on a large blackboard.

Jacobsen came in for his landing, flying the plane as slowly as possible and keeping it off the ground until the last second, then let it settle gently to the earth. Mechanics rushed out and propped the landing gear with a board.

Jacobsen climbed out and walked away from the undamaged plane.

Rockefeller, Romney
Discuss State Problems

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York flew into Detroit Sunday night and played dinner host to George Romney.

Rockefeller was here to deliver an address today before the Economic Club of Detroit, but used the occasion to strengthen what had been only a casual acquaintance with the former American Motors Corp. president, who is now the Republican Party's most likely candidate for governor of Michigan.

The New York governor, Romney and two GOP national committeemen — John B. Martin of Michigan and George Hillman of New York — conferred for two hours over dinner in Rockefeller's hotel suite. Rockefeller is a potential candidate for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

Newsman were excluded from the session, and Rockefeller had no comment on the meeting. Romney said later they discussed "mutual state problems."

"When Mr. Rockefeller ran for governor the key problem in New York was jobs," Romney said. "That is one of the key problems in Michigan today, so I was interested to hear what has been done in New York to change the economic climate."

"When he went into office," Romney continued, "New York's rate of economic growth was lower, and its unemployment was higher, than the national average."

Income Declining

"This is now true in Michigan. Our state's personal income declined 7.8 per cent in 1961, while in every other state—including New York—personal income went up in 1961."

"This is an economic trend that must be reversed."

Whether he learned anything from Rockefeller that might reverse the trend, Romney declined to say. "You're asking for specifics and you're not going to get them," he told newsmen, "but I will say I was most interested to learn some things about New York's experience in meeting these problems."

CHICAGO — Recent agreements for cooperation in Italy between Catholic and anti-clerical Socialist leaders would "not have been possible" during the lifetime of the late Pope Pius XII, an Italian Socialist Party official said here.

"I do not mean to suggest that the present Pope is a Socialist," said Paolo Vittorelli, with a smile. "Far from it."

But, he said, agreements both at the parliamentary and the local governmental level lead to an inescapable conclusion that Pope John has a more liberal influence than had Pope Pius.

International Secretary

Vittorelli is international secretary of the Italian Socialist Party. In this capacity he is the party's top expert on foreign affairs and would be foreign secretary "if we gained control of the government, not an immediate possibility."

Vittorelli said the Socialist Party made its first major move toward coalition with the Catholic Christian Democrats in a 1955 policy statement.

Message of Greeting

Significantly, he said, we held our party conference the next year in Venice, and for the first time the cardinal sent us a message of greeting.

The cardinal at that time was, of course, Cardinal Roncalli, now Pope John.

Other signs of a greater Vatican tolerance of cooperation, according to Vittorelli, include:

Political Disengagement

A general disengagement of the Catholic Church from day-by-day Italian political life.

The sudden dropping of opposition to local Catholic-Socialist cooperation by conservative cardinals in Palermo and Genoa.

The papal encyclical on social and welfare measures, which "was directed at Catholic welfare workers and unionists, indicating that forward steps can be made."

Christ's Untamed Homeland Breathes Tranquility, Force

Area Abounds With Haunting Memories, Winds Echo the Past

BY GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

NAZARETH, Israel (AP) — A jagged shaft of lightning flamed against the black proscenium of the clouds. A moment's silence. Then the thunder crashed, cascading through the chasms of the mountains.

This is Galilee, untamed, rock-ribbed, precipitous, hotbed of ancient insurrections, homeland of the Nazarene.

To the south across the plain of Esdraelon, the rain came down in sheets of gray. Yet westward, sunlight stabbed the ranging plateaus of Carmel. This place is full of moods, of sudden change, of peaks and valleys, storm and sun.

Began His Work
And here is where the carpenter of Nazareth began His work that led Him through the depth of night and back again into a pinnacle of light.

He walked these limestone slopes where ragged shepherd boys still tend their flocks today. He chopped down cypress in these groves to carve as yokes and wooden plows. And here He taught, "The truth will make you free."

My wife, Jo Ann, and I went roaming for a week in Israel. Its towns and fields, its modern methods overlaying old, its shops, kibbutzim, ancient sites, its finds in archeology, the ruins of Pilate's garrison, Caesarea, beside the Mediterranean Sea.

And chiefly — rockbound Galilee, the storied land of Jesus.

Here in Nazareth, where He lived for 30 years, a church and synagogue still stand along a market lane, supposedly where He first told His tale to men. Outside the hawkers cry and barefoot women carry their waterjugs and baskets on their heads. The spot is theory, but the words are sure: "He hath sent me to heal the brokenhearted, to preach deliverance to the captives, to set at liberty them that are oppressed."

Around about, these buckling hills are steeped in age-old courage and fierce integrity. The oldest armed revolt from tyranny took place among these knobby crests, along these stratified defiles of jutting rock and sabra cactus, down across those forest floors of pine and eucalyptus.

We lunched in Nazareth. A Greek cafe. A Jewish state. The town is mostly Arab. Rustic, wary little world. Persistent hucksters, selling trinkets, hang about the Inhabitants are fewer here than in the olden days. The valley plots have been combined into communal farms. Whole villages are gone. The rugged, wide expanses now are empty and untended. Buckthorn tangles overgrow the tumbling, old stone fences.

Every now and then, there looms ahead, erected on some isolated knoll, a pillared monument of war, or else a rusty Renault tank, a relic of Israel's fight with Jordan.

Then all at once, from high upon a rocky eminence, the sight unfolds below — the Lake of Galilee, as blue as blue can be, a hundred-odd square miles of bluest velvet blue.

The sun broke through, just moments later, turning that already gorgeous blue into a giant, dancing sapphire, cradled by the circling sentries of the hills.

A legend says that God from all the seas He made selected for Himself the Sea of Galilee. And here is where the Nazarene recruited chiefs of His apostles, where He spoke and healed and fed and lifted hearts of people.

"He taught," the record says, "as one that had authority."

The rocks beside the lake are black basalt. They stretch today by almost vacant, lifeless shores. Yet in the breezes from that sea you hear the teeming whispers of the past, the echoes of a steady voice, steady even when the gales whip out abruptly from the mountain gorges, lashing placid waters into six-foot waves.

"Peace, be still!" Be not afraid. Have you no faith?

Ruins Remain

Only ruins remain of all the busy towns that once arrayed this coast, except for present-day Tiberias. King Herod built it new in Jesus' time, a capital to please the Roman emperor. Some ancient parapets and halls still stand, and nearby hot-spring baths still draw the rich. Caligula vacationed here of old as Herod's guest. The baths, some say, are good for gout and ailments of the nerves.

The other towns are gone. No more is Chorazin or Magdala, the dyers' town of Mary Magdalene. Their remnants lay in aged decay. Bethsaida vanished long ago, its site a diggings now for ancient lamps and jars. Capernaum, the fishing port, is now a fenced enclave of basalt ruins, preserved by some Franciscans.

Not far away, a gentle mountain rises by the sea, its crown a bunch of evergreens, alive with songs of birds. And here, tradition says, to hundreds gathered on that broad incline, the Nazarene delivered His immortal sermon. "Blessed are the poor... the meek... the merciful... Judge not, and you shall not be judged... forgive and you shall be forgiven."

I said, "Let's go."

Haunting Memories

"Not yet," said Jo. She sat atop a boulder, listening to the birds, and other things.

Many other spots around this lake abound with haunting memories, the places where He prayed and slept, the coastal tablelands where thousands lacking food were fed, the scenes of quiet and pressing throngs, of friends and foes, the Gennesaret plain where He was criticized for plucking corn for Sabbath lunch.

This province breathes both tranquility and force. It sleeps, volcanic, hiding tempests in its rich benevolence. The day is quickly changed to night. The clouds return. The wind, at dusk, is rising.

Shalom, fair sea. Volcanos formed your restless banks, disgorging lava dams to block the Jordan's flow. So peacefully you ride there now, a satin sheen beneath the setting sun. How quickly things can change, and did, when Jesus went to face the shaken rulers of Jerusalem.

"The Son of Man came... to give His life..."

Solitary Mount

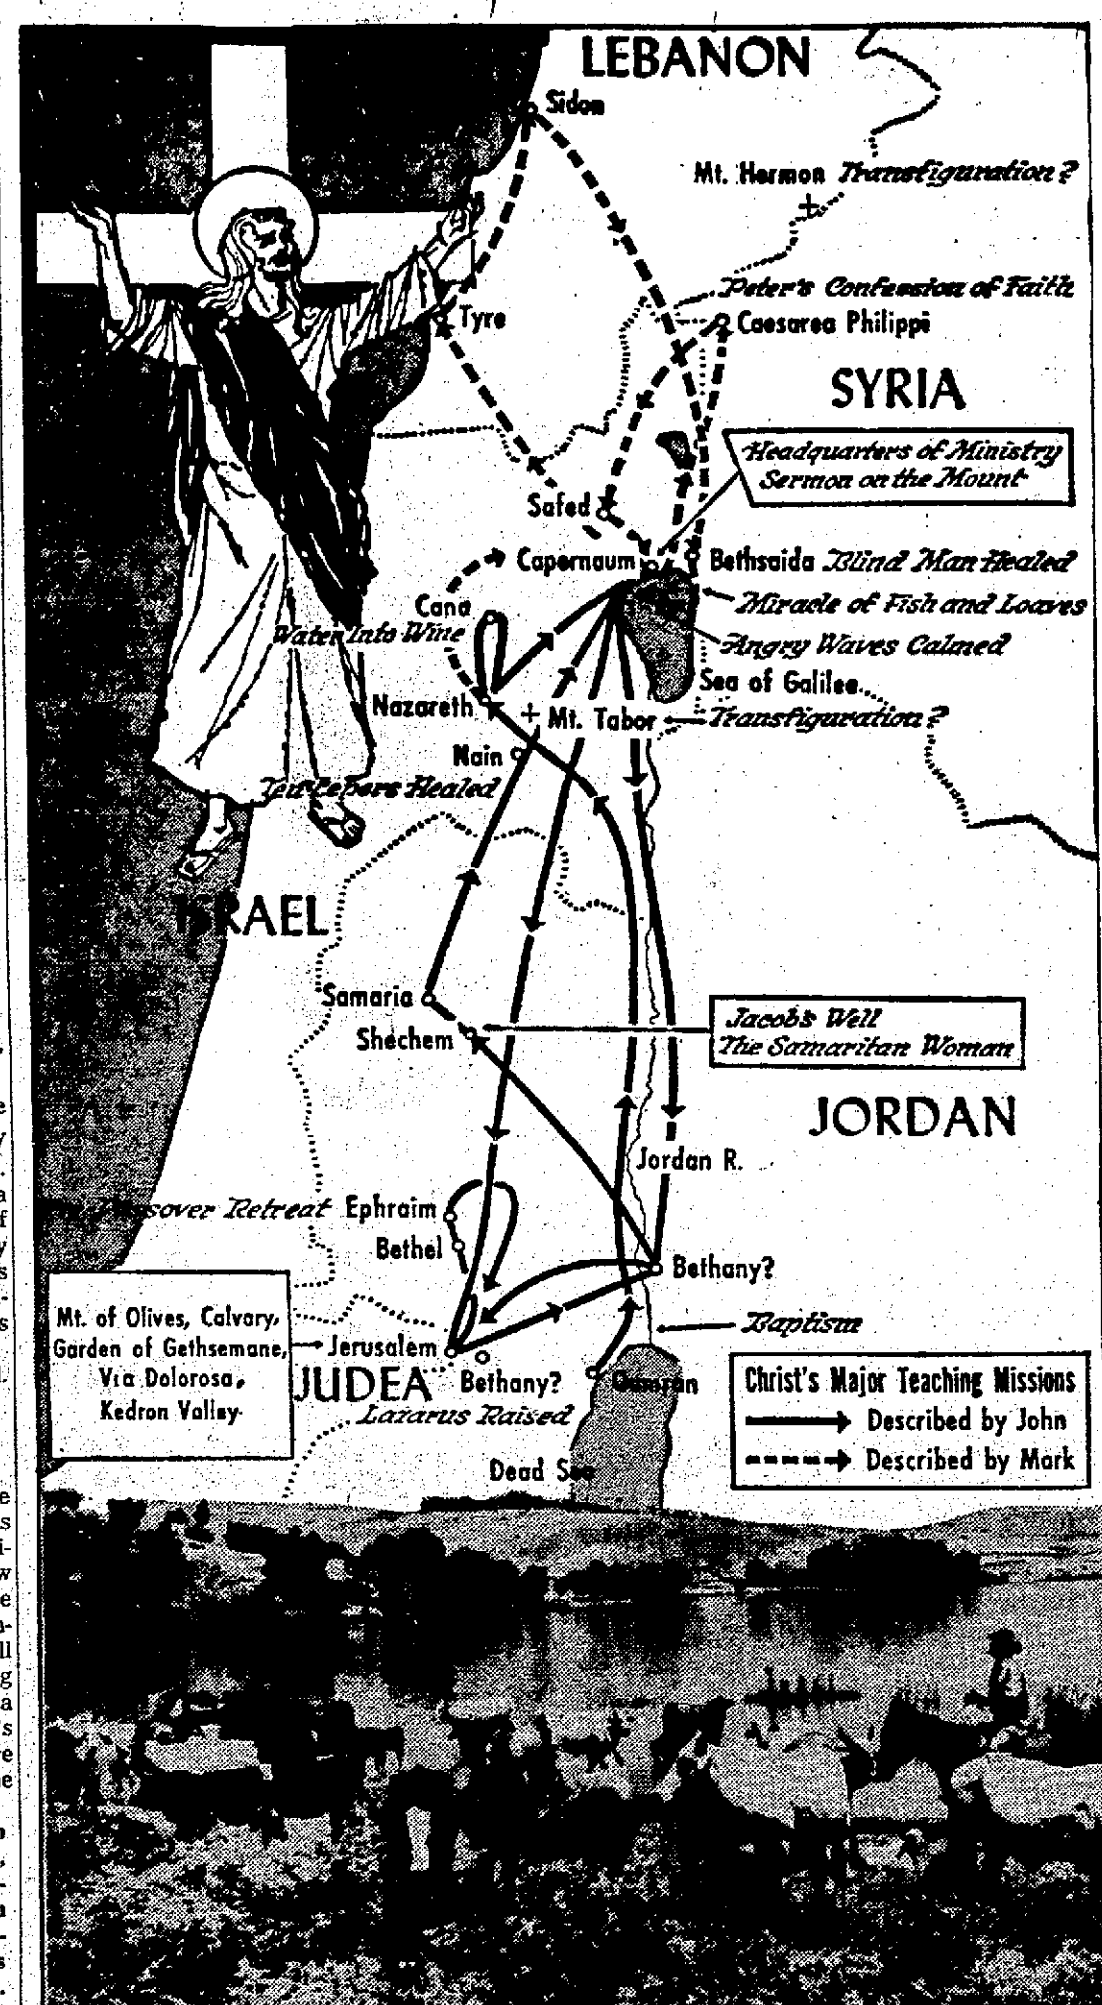

And so, He went. Enroute, a rough and dismal gutted road goes by a solitary mount. It rises stark, immense and brooding from a level plain. The sunset shed an eerie glow across its rounded dome.

It's called Tabor, the mountain where the figure of the Nazarene was fused with some supernatural light, and words were heard by Peter, James and John: "This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased."

Our gasoline supply was short, with 30 miles to go before the nearest town. We coasted down descents. Across the southern sky, the lightning flared. The rain resumed. And thunder rumbled in the night.

Scouts Learn Hardships of Troops at War

SOMERSET, Ky. (AP)—It was cold and stormy a century ago when Gen. Felix Zollicoffer of the Confederate army was killed in the Civil War battle of Fishing Creek near here.

During the weekend, 2,790 Boy

Scouts set out on a hike to commemorate Zollicoffer's death — and got more realism than they bargained for.

Rain and snow fell on the scouts' camp and the temperature dropped to the freezing mark. Boy Scout officials said one boy had to be treated at a hospital when he was hit by a flying flashlight and bit his tongue. Another was taken home, apparently suffering from appendicitis.

The rest plodded over the cold, muddy ground — and got a centennial medal for their efforts. About 500 of the boys added a few miles to the hike and were awarded a second medal. Boys from 11 states took part in the two-day affair. Zollicoffer was killed Jan. 19, 1862 as he led troops from Tennessee to a four-hour battle that took place during an electrical storm.

REA Gets Okay To Close 3 Offices

Communities Will Be Served Within Free Delivery Zone

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Over the opposition of most of the private truckers interested in the market, the public service commission has authorized the Railway Express Agency to close its offices at three smaller communities north of Green Bay and to serve them within the free delivery zone of its Green Bay station.

The communities are Oconto Falls, Gillett and Pulaski. But the commission denied the proposal of the express company for the discontinuance of agency service at Lena, Coleman, Crivitz and Wausau, as not being proved to be in the public interest.

The commission said that in the three communities there was shown to be need for the service proposed by the company, without undue interference with other carriers already operating in the territory.

Several common motor carriers of express and freight told the commission that the proposal would result in the creation of a new single-line motor carrier operation that would divert traffic from their lines.

But the commission said the proposal as it was approved will only provide a substitute means of transporting excess expeditiously and economically, and would in fact entail the abandonment of express service which had been available between the communities under the previous arrangements.

The opposing carrier included the Wisconsin Motor Carrier Association, the Gateway Transportation company, the Clairmont Transfer company, Timm Transit and the Central Greyhound Lines, a vision of the Greyhound corporation.

Beethoven Probably Never Had to Face Such Circumstances

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The pedals fell off the piano two-thirds of the way through Rudolf Serkin's playing of Beethoven's Fifth Concerto before 3,000 concertgoers Sunday.

The famed pianist stopped and had conductor Fabien Sevitzky explain to the University of Miami symphony concert audience.

Then up from the string section strode Israel Greenfield. Greenfield is a cellist, but also is a skilled piano tuner. With the aid of a couple of maintenance men and a hammer he fastened the pedals back in place.

Protesting Far Too Much

In the current controversy over the value of the United Nations to the causes of freedom, peace and justice in the world, it is essential to look at the organization objectively and without either wild accusation on the one hand or violent defense on the other. But when York Langton, regional chairman and member of the board of the American Association for the United Nations spoke in Neenah recently, he weakened rather than strengthened the cause of popular adherence to the U.N. by some pretty silly comparisons.

"There is no evidence that the USSR wants to destroy the U.N.," said Langton. "Actually, it is the second largest contributor to its maintenance. We differ on interpretation of the charter. The Russians do not want a liberal interpretation, but back in our own history, Hamilton and Jefferson differed on interpretation of our own charter."

Langton correctly pointed out that our own Constitution has been interpreted in different ways to meet the needs of the people through our history. But there is a vast gap between the differences of opinion of Jefferson and Hamilton and the philosophies of the free nations and those of the Communist bloc. And Russia may be paying a lot to the U.N. but it is also more in arrears than any nation.

This sort of interpretation, which we assume is Langton's and not the AAUN's gives credence to the criticism of those who think we ought to get out of the U.N., that it is a gradual way to Soviet control and a real danger to United States independence and liberty. It gives the impression, easily exploited, that backers of the U.N. are a bunch of naive crackpots at best and active Communist agents at the worst.

Philip Klutznich, American representative to the United Nations Economic and Social Council, recently bemoaned the "irrational criticism" of the U.N. by some segments of the American populace. Just as serious, it seems, is the irrational defense of the U.N. As Senator Jackson pointed out in his own calm and collected criticism, "the United Nations is, and should continue to be, an important avenue of American foreign policy. But we need to revise our attitudes in the direction of a more realistic appreciation of its limitations, more modest hopes for its accomplishments and a more mature sense of the burdens of responsible leadership."

Highways and Scenery

A succession of developments suggest that the state highway department at Madison is giving increasing thought and consideration to the esthetic aspects of highway design, routing and construction.

Most noteworthy, perhaps, is the plan just announced for the reconstruction of State Highway 42 between Manitowoc and Two Rivers in such a way as to preserve the beauties of the route, control the erosion of the shoreline that has advanced to a disturbing degree, provide wayside sight-seeing facilities for the traveler, and accommodate a heavy flow of traffic simultaneously.

The new outdoor resources program of the state administration features the relatively new concept of scenic easements along the main-travelled roads in the most picturesque regions, a program that in effect buys the right of scenic enjoyment for the public, without the expenditure and the administrative responsibility entailed in outright land ownership. The highway department has also announced that it intends to build more wayside parks and "over-looks" on the ordinary state trunk highways, with picnic accommodations and sanitary facilities. Along the Mississippi River progress is reported in the development of a scenic Great River Road, which is potentially one of the unique designs of the Wisconsin highway network.

Small Town Planning

The city of Aspen, Colo., has a permanent population of about 1,500 people, not many more than when it was a drained-out mining ghost town until sixteen years ago. But last month the Aspen City Council and the Board of Pitkin County Commissioners approved a master plan for the orderly development of the area. For the population figures, such endorsement seems little short of remarkable.

Of course, the major impetus behind the planning did not come from the permanent residents of the city or the ranchers in the surrounding mountains and meadows. Aspen has become a major resort area in both winter and summer. The Aspen Institute, an organization which sponsors much of the cultural summer programs that fill the area's tourist accommodations with artists, musicians and college professors during July and August, was a moving force in getting the plan underway. So was the Aspen Ski Corp. which must compete with hundreds of other mountain and snow communities for the tremendous ski business of the winter months. Certainly other pressure came from the growing number of wealthy, part-time residents of the area who have seen in the cities how monstrosities develop without planning.

The Aspen Institute has voted to donate $5,000 to the planning which is expected to take three years to complete and which will cost about $45,000. The city council voted $2,500 per year for two years. But two-thirds of the cost will come from the Federal government.

A resort area does not need zoning and planning to restrict the slums, the dumps and the other undesirable spots any more than any city, village or town. But the realization of the need to clean up in order to promote tourist accommodations, which are the lifeblood of Aspen, undoubtedly was the reason why the endorsement of the master plan was passed unanimously by both the city council and the county board.

General Accounting Office

4,990 U. S. Employees Investigating Waste

Chicago Daily News Service
WASHINGTON — There are 4,990 employees on the federal payroll dedicated to nothing but stamping out waste.

They claim they saved the taxpayers $132,956,740 last year — more than the entire cost of the FBI.

These official penny-pinchers work for the General Accounting Office (GAO), an outfit created by Congress 40 years ago as a watchdog over government spending.

They toil to catch swindlers, slackers, goof-ups and wastrels among the myriad government agencies and private suppliers who exist at the courtesy of John Q. Taxpayer.

Uranium to Feathers
Last year GAO sleuths poked into everything from prices the Atomic Energy Commission pays for uranium to the sale of feathers from the national defense stockpile.

They worried about the cost of the paper the bureau of engraving prints money on, and complained that $18 billion worth of defense contracts were let without competitive bids.

The boss of the GAO, Comptroller General Joseph Campbell, estimated the savings his agency brought about in fiscal 1961 this way:

—$33 Million in cash collected from firms and individuals who overcharged the government—including $12 million in padded World War II freight bills.

—$5 Million in cash from the settlement of government claims.

—$95 Million in savings by halting unnecessary spending spotted ahead of time by GAO experts.

Watch Spare Parts
The fattest savings—more than $45 million—came from the cancellation of shipments of military equipment to foreign countries which GAO investigators said didn't need the stuff.

In one country alone, orders for $23 million worth of unne-sary spare parts were canceled. In another country, the GAO found $53 million worth of parts more than it said could be used.

Other items uncovered by GAO last year:

—The air force was paying 27,000 officers $71 million a year in flight pay even though, the GAO said, there was no need for them to keep up their flying skills. It also cost the air force $112 million to operate the planes for these flights.

—Missile equipment valued at $24 million was transferred to a foreign country in such poor condition it was barely workable. In addition, the foreign country had only a limited ability to operate it.

Planes Grounded

—Between 25 and 50 per cent of the first line fighter planes of a Marine air wing was grounded for lack of parts. Some essential parts had been out of stock for nearly two years, but other parts no longer needed were being ordered.

—The Defense Department signed purchasing contracts without taking competitive bids that ran up $14 million in excessive costs.

—Dishonest military payroll clerks cheated the government of $668,000 in fraudulent payments.

Green Bay's Attitude Toward New Airport Brings Reminder

Editor, Post-Crescent:
I have forwarded the following letter to the Editor of the Green Bay Press-Gazette:

Down here in Outagamie County we are very disappointed in the negative attitude of the Brown County Board toward our proposed new airport. People here have always regarded Green Bay as a friendly area that had much in common with ours.

Over the years Outagamie County people have backed the Packers; even before the lush days of Vince Lombardi. We shop in your stores, and watch your television stations, thereby improving their ratings. We, on the other hand, enjoy having Green Bay people shop in our stores and attend the events that are sponsored here.

During the research preceding this airport proposal two nationally known consultants reported that Green Bay constitutes a completely separate airline market from southern Outagamie County, while it is true that some of us use the Green Bay Airport due to our own lack of service, we constitute an infinitesimal part of your total airline travel.

Both your area and ours are growing so both of us merit good airline service. We do not feel that this is a competitive matter but simply an Outagamie County problem. In all fairness, Green Bay people certainly would not travel to Appleton to reach an airport — so please remember that the distance is the same in either direction.

The air space conflict is the traditional "straw man". Contrary to the implications, the notice received by your airport manager from the FAA specified our northwest-southeast as the instrument runway. This places our traffic twenty-five miles from you. Merely changing your procedure turn to the north would be an additional

Sees No Need For Outsider As Police Chief

Editor, Post-Crescent:

A while back the Post-Crescent published an ad that applications were being taken for chief of police. Why do they need to publish this ad when we have many men on the Appleton police force who are qualified and entitled to this job. These men have worked 15 and 20 years in hopes that some day they will become chief of police. If a man from out of town is hired, lots of our own policemen will lose their morale, because they have no future to work towards. By now the man for this job may have been chosen because he has a friend in public office who can pull a few strings. Why hire a man from out of town who knows nothing of our city.

So I myself, as a taxpayer think the man entitled to this job is one of our own policemen, who has for many years helped to uphold law and order in our city.

Editorial on Negroes Favorably Received

Editor, Post-Crescent:

The editorial on Sunday, April 8th, concerning the advent of Negroes into the Fox River Valley was one which everyone in this area should have read and applauded. The members of the Commission on Christian Social Concerns of the First Methodist Church of Appleton wish to commend the newspaper for such foresight and for such a positive approach toward preventing problems and friction that might develop when Negroes move into this area.

We, as a part of the church community of Appleton and the Fox Cities, would certainly want to be included in any planning done in this area by the other groups of citizens you mentioned; police and school officials, teachers, welfare workers, business and labor leaders. In fact, we, and we believe many others, are ready and anxious for a chance to put into practice the ideals on brotherhood we hear about on Sunday mornings.

Editor, Post-Crescent:

In its editorial of April 8, "Negroes in Appleton", the Post-Crescent has done its readers a valuable service in seeking to prepare Appleton residents to the possibility of Negro people moving into the city. With some humble soul-searching and a desire to do what is humanly right, we can contribute to a harmonious working-out of brotherly relations which is sorely needed in our world.

Surely we suffer from a sterility and incompleteness when we become exclusive and live self-centered lives revolving around immediate family and social circles and fail to think in terms of the whole human family. All people have rich and worthwhile contributions to make to society if given a chance and the spiritual climate necessary to bring out the best in himself.

Should a Negro family move into Appleton, let us treat them as we would be treated, with mutual respect and brotherly consideration.

Too Easy to Run for Office in Wisconsin

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The news services recently reported that a young fellow who has announced that he is a candidate for one of the highest offices in state politics has been charged with defrauding a hotel-keeper, among other peccadillos not exactly appropriate to his political aspirations.

The result will likely be to remove him from serious consideration of the voters, but the unhappy fact is that he had no reasonable claim to such consideration in the first instance.

This young man is the prototype of scores of others in Wisconsin elections who have been unable to resist the temptingly easy opportunity provided by the absurdly lenient Wisconsin election laws to bid for fame — or notoriety.

There are those persons who regard having run for governor, or U. S. senator, or congressman, or other public places of dignified stature, as a satisfaction and a distinction, a kind of sop to their own vanity, quite aside from the usually humiliating defeats they suffer for their pains. It has become apparent to some critics that these nuisances will continue to clutter up the electoral system and make an already complex and long ballot more confounding to unsophisticated voters.

PUBLICITY SEEKERS

During a couple of decades of covering Wisconsin politics, this correspondent has seen perhaps a score of men who ran for high offices with qualifications that would have been laughed down had they presumed to run for mayor or sheriff in their home districts.

But each time the mechanical, ly objective wire services ana gift. Finder's keeper is that your motto? Did you need the money? I would gladly give it to you for the return of the billfold. Would you please think this over and at least return my pictures, cards and other items that were in it. They don't mean anything to you but do to me. Return it either to the place where you found it or mail it to me.

From the Loser

nounced their aspirations on the news wires with the same kind of dead-pan literalness afforded the serious aspirant of stature, purpose and reputation. Thus the voter doesn't have available to him the essential facts upon which to base a decision. Sometimes these men get handsome minority votes that obviously would not have been theirs had they been described in realistic truth in the first instance.

One of these romantics comes to mind. He was a very young man who didn't know what party he favored, and didn't quite know what office he wanted. He called one day and inquired whether it might not be a good idea for him to run for U. S. senator. He had heard there was an election coming up. When it was suggested that his lack of experience and acquaintance and record of accomplishment might make a state legislative seat more appropriate, he demurred. His district already had an assemblyman and he was pretty sure he couldn't beat him.

THE RULES

The time may be at hand for a review of the requirements for filing in Wisconsin elections, at least for the major offices, as a means of anticipating and side-tracking crack-pots and notoriety seekers.

The Wisconsin rules today are extremely easy — reflecting this state's traditional devotion to literal democracy. Virtually anybody who wants to take the effort can collect the signatures to qualify him for a primary election ballot. There are those, acquainted with the perfunctory filing process, who have wondered whether the signatures that are filed are always legitimately solicited — or merely copied out of directories and filed falsely.

Other states have somewhat more restrictive rules, including a better distribution of petitions, or a monetary filing fee.

It is hard to argue that some of those states are less devoted to democratic ideals or representative government than is Wisconsin.

A simple fee requirement, with forfeiture for those who get less than a realistic minimum of voter support, would eliminate a good deal of tomfoolery in Wisconsin primaries. The down payment equivalent on a washing machine might be a suitable start.

Reports on Bridge Collapse

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for April 17, 1962, and the Appleton Crescent for April 19, 1962.

We've got an item! And in this instance a most welcome one, too. The nuisance so long known and shuddered over as the "high bridge" in the Fourth Ward, is laid low at last. The bloody and cruel murders it portended are all made a myth. Nobody will have to make his will and say his prayers crossing it any more. It has been caught in its own trap and swallowed down by the yawning oblivion beneath, which it has held for so long, in treacherous reserve for the unwary. Peace to its rottenness, and rotten be its peace. — Appleton Motor.

Another old resident is no more. Time's frosts and storms have done their work and the Fourth Ward Ravine Bridge is no more. It has fallen from its once proud position, and now remains but an unsightly mess of rotten broken timbers, stretched across the valley, its last resting place.

Mr. Samuel Kelly has been busily engaged in laying out the remains, and the traveler who may pass over the mass of logs, once a bridge, will drop a tear to its memory.

It is designed to put in a culvert of the best of timbers, fill in the logs, have the banks graded down, and cover with planks so that it can be made of easy grade and will serve the wants of the people as well as a high bridge.

We have so many bridges on our hands that it becomes necessary for us to exercise much judgment in keeping them up at as small expense as possible.

It was found on careful examination that the ravine bridge was a mere shell, and the wonder to us is that it had not come down before this. Travel will necessarily be suspended therefore possibly a month. Teams can get around at some distance back, but the road is at present in shocking condition. — Appleton Crescent.

State Treasurer Stumps for Women in Government

Mrs. Smith Contends Her Election Proved Turning Point in Politics

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — When the people of Wisconsin two years ago elected her to an office that had been held by men since 1848, they declared that "women have come of age politically," says Mrs. Dena Smith, Wisconsin state treasurer.

Wyngaard

Mrs. Smith is now busily engaged in proving that the Wisconsin voters chose deliberately and seriously when they installed her as the first constitutional officer in the history of Wisconsin. She was one of the first of the candidates for office this year to announce candidacy intentions, and now is making appearances through Wisconsin in support of her renomination on the Republican ticket in September and reelection in November.

The 62-year-old Mrs. Smith is a veteran of state politics, having come to Madison to work in the treasury when her late husband was elected state treasurer in 1948.

She candidly acknowledges that her success as a candidate at the polls has had some relation to her previous association with the office she holds, and the fact that she was appointed to the vacancy when Warren R. Smith, her late husband, died in 1957 after being elected five times. Nevertheless, the fact of her successful campaign in 1960, is a proof of the increasing acceptability of women in government and politics, she believes.

When Mrs. Smith grew up in Kewaunee early in the century, women did not have the right to hold office, and did not yet have the right to vote.

Small Staff

Mrs. Smith presides over a comparatively small staff at the capitol, as staffs and payrolls are measured there. Functions of the office and its power have gradually diminished with the development of a career administrative service over the years.

Some of the furnishings of her office are relics of other days when the treasurer physically held huge amounts of money and other valuables. In her desk drawer is a pistol, inherited from other regimens, which she smilingly says she wouldn't know how to shoot if it became necessary to defend herself.

The state treasury's transactions, incoming and outgoing, aggregate three billions a year, but there is very little cash on hand at most times. The transactions are mostly in the form of checks, and they are deposited daily in the bank depositories with which the state deals, and picked up in armored trucks.

Mrs. Smith is one of the widely known stumpers among her political contemporaries. One of her favorite diversions is playing the piano at political gatherings, trade association conventions and other meetings to which she is often invited. For 32 years before she heads to do the campaigning that is necessary to maintain the votes to stay in office, she reports with unusual candor.

Other elective officials, including most recent governors, have supported a change in the constitution to provide for the four-year terms used in some other states, but there has been so little public response to the proposal that legislatures have consistently ignored it, when they have not voted it down.

Women's Potential

Mrs. Smith lectures women's groups about the power potential of women in the electorate which is not always used to the fullest, or recognized.

Women do most of the physical work in political party campaigning, she points out, and they outnumber men in the American electorate.

Yet editors and reporters, most of them men, constantly refer to "man-power" and "man-hours," when they appraise campaign labor and effort, she complains.

Although women are no longer unique as politicians in America, there are yet too few of them actively concerned with governmental operations and participating in politics as candidates, she says. In her own life-time women have made historic advances in their civil rights, she reminds.

On occasion Mrs. Smith can do battle in the way that male colleagues in the political system understand. A year ago the professional accountants in the state department of administration proposed to streamline the state check issuing procedure, by removing the name of the state treasurer from the state drafts, among other things. Mrs. Smith hurried into a legislative committee room to protest, and won her point. The streamlining bill was turned down.

Some Policy

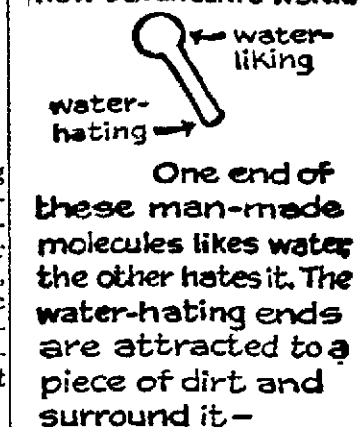

Mrs. Smith generally confines her public speaking engagements to descriptions of the office she directs and her experiences in campaigning with her husband during more than a decade, but occasionally she ventures into policy topics.

Currently she is telling an audience that the short terms provided under the Wisconsin constitution for elective officials such as herself are unwise. They should be lengthened, because I do not think it is fair to the people of our state. Actually so much time out of one year of the two years has to be spent traveling and campaigning," she explains.

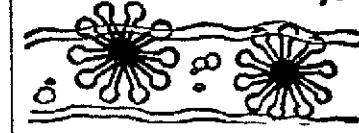

Except for the efficient civil service workers in her departments and others in the custody of elective officials, it would be impossible for the elective

Laird Raps Guard, Reserve Secrecy

Criticizes Pentagon's Deletion Of 'Off the Record' Testimony

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Current attempts by Pentagon officials to keep their actions on Wisconsin's 32nd and other national guard and reserve matters a "secret" from the press and public were soundly denounced by Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R., Marshfield.

Referring to hearings released today by the House Appropriations Subcommittee on the Department of Defense, of which Laird is a member, the Wisconsin congressman charged that there was no "rhyme or reason why the Pentagon should insist on deleting much of their testimony from the printed report."

He disclosed that often when he criticized the top-level handling of national guard units such as Wisconsin's 32nd and the 49th, the Pentagon wanted it deleted, and taken "off the record."

"It just didn't make sense, and an alert press should go into this attempt at 'covering up,' or 'classifying' information on the excuse that to publish it would endanger the security of our country," Laird charged.

Points Brought Up
For instance, he said some of the military wanted to cut out of the hearings his own reference to the "action" made by the Department of Defense in calling up 10,000 "fillers" last year "by mistake."

"I didn't let them get by with that," he reported during an interview.

Points brought up regarding the 32nd Division by Laird during the defense department hearings included:

1. The firming up of Aug. 31 as the "deadline" for release of all personnel. Laird intimated that certain deficiency funds could not be approved by his subcommittee unless President Kennedy or Secretary of Defense McNamara agreed to announce publicly the August date as the time all the 32nd personnel would be returned home. It will cost, incidentally, an additional $94.4 million to keep the 32nd active two months beyond the original date of July 1.

2. Promotions. Laird said he had started calling attention to the matter of promotions of 32nd Division officers, particularly second lieutenants to defense officials "way back in November." Now it appears when these second loeys go back to the state status they will have reserve commission of first lieutenants.

Keep Identity
3. Preservation of national guard units. Maj. Gen. William H. Harrison Jr., president, National Guard Association told Laird that one way to keep the identity of the 32nd and other national guard divisions is to maintain a stability of organization and strength which would not be subject to Pentagon "realignment" or "reorganization" every two or three years. He also recommended that a "pool" of individuals basically trained be built up from the inactive national guard who could not attend weekly drills, but who would be available upon mobilization.

Laird indicated that he was worried about keeping the 32nd together after the men had been brought back home and indicated a constructive policy might have to be established by the Congress.

"No mud and dirt! Everything's a lot cleaner since we got a concrete street!"

Concrete's the street for good home-makers! No tar to track in... no clutter, dust and dirt of periodic patching and surface treatment. And laid flat, concrete stays flat—never any hollow spots to collect water. You're always sure of good drainage. And concrete's so smooth-riding and safe. Its grainy surface gives dependable skid resistance, even when it's raining. And you'll never find potholes or ripples to cause dangerous swerves.

There's another big advantage at night. Light-colored concrete reflects up to 4 times more light than a dark surface can. It brightens things up for drivers... you can see and be seen far better.

With all this, concrete's initial cost is moderate—less than you'd think! And the upkeep cost is extremely low. A street of concrete will probably outlast your house. It has a life expectancy of 50 years and more.

It's the preferred pavement for residential streets all over America... it belongs on the street in front of your house.

Get together with your neighbors...

If your street needs paving; make your preference for concrete known. Concrete is the only pavement that can be accurately engineered to meet the expected traffic load on your street for years to come.

Appleton Selects Easter Seal Child for Annual Campaign

Patrick Coyle Symbol of Crippled Children Helped by Contributions

Appleton has its own Easter Seal child this year, chosen, as the National Easter Seal child is, as a symbol of all the crippled children who are helped by Easter Seal contributions.

Appleton's selection is nine-year-old Patrick Coyle, an alert, active youngster who is busy making plans to attend Camp Wawbeek, sponsored by the Easter Seal Society, this summer. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Coyle.

Pat's leg was amputated below the knee last October as a result of congenital pseudoarthrosis. He has had six operations since he was four months old, and has previously used crutches.

There is no special agency to aid Pat, as there is for children afflicted with such diseases as cerebral palsy or muscular dystrophy, and so he is being helped by the Outagamie County Easter Seal Society, which assists all crippled children and adults. The society will provide an artificial limb for him, and plans are being made to send him to Camp Wawbeek at Wisconsin Dells this summer.

Normal Mobility

The artificial limb will free Pat from crutches and will give him the same mobility as if he had a normal leg.

Incentive is no problem for him, his teachers point out. He can run faster now than many children, and he has never let his handicap interfere with normal activities, they said.

Pat, the third of five boys, attends Morgan School and belongs to the Cub Scout pack there. He loves to read, and has a good sense of humor, his teacher, Miss Fern Mead, said. Pat's brothers are Michael, 14; Gary, 10; Donald, 3, and Shawn, 1.

In the orthopedic department at Morgan School, Pat is being helped to strengthen the muscles of his remaining leg. After he receives his artificial limb, he will be instructed in the proper use of it and the correct methods of care. He'll be taught how to walk and to climb stairs properly, and how to be aware of pressure spots and catch any problems before they become serious. As he grows older, the limb will have to be replaced and readjusted to allow for his growth.

Teamwork Matter

It's a matter of teamwork, said Morgan physical therapist Joseph J. Vareka, among the physician, the patient, the physical therapist and the brace-maker. The Easter Seal Society is also on the team.

Miss Mead, Pat's teacher, has served for some years as camp chairman for the Outagamie County Easter Seal Society, and is helping Pat make plans to attend Camp Wawbeek. The camp provides a two-week summer recreation program for persons from 8 to 45, with camp periods divided by age groups. About 600 persons, including 27 from Outagamie County, attended the camp last summer.

The camp is supported primarily by the Easter Seal Society through the sale of Easter Seals. Parents also pay what they can, and some local organizations sponsor children attending the camp.

Recreational Program

The camp is for the physically handicapped, not for the deaf, blind or mentally retarded. The program is recreational, and is geared to the abilities of the children or adults attending. The camp has a staff of 40, in addition to counselors, two registered nurses, a craft teacher and a recreation director.

The program includes all games and sports, with special rules when necessary, overnight and daytime hikes, campfire entertainment, talent shows, swimming, cookouts and crafts.

The children are so eager to attend that they start asking about applications in February, Miss Mead said, while for older persons who often are confined to their homes the two-weeks at camp may be the highlight of the year.

About 27 children and adults from Outagamie County are expected to attend the camp again this summer, Miss Mead said. She asked that anyone who has not been contacted and is interested in the program to call her at Morgan School. Most persons are contacted through the school or by referral from doctors and county and city nurses.

Fund-Raising

The Easter Seal Society is presently conducting its annual fund-raising campaign to support Camp Wawbeek and its other activities. No definite goal is set, but the Outagamie County unit hopes to better the $6,995 raised last year in order to expand services.

The money is raised chiefly through the sale of Easter Seals. Some 20,000 pieces have been mailed in the county by members of the American Legion Auxiliary and its Past President Parley.

Other Easter Seal Society activities include sponsorship of the Homecrafters Gift Shop in Appleton and of a loan closet. Products made by handicapped persons in their homes are sold through the gift shop, enabling these persons to earn part of their expenses.

The Society has wheelchairs, walkers, serving tables, hydraulic lifts, hospital beds, crutches, bed rails and a child's elevated bed and play pen combination for loaning purposes. The equipment is stored at the County Court-house.

Patrick Coyle, Appleton's Easter Seal child, makes plans to attend Camp Wawbeek this summer. The camp is owned and operated by the Easter Seal Society. From left, are Miss Fern Mead, Pat's teacher at Morgan School and Outagamie County Easter Seal Society's chairman; Donald Coyle, Pat's father, and Pat.

Your Money's Worth

Much of U. S. Labor Force in School

BY SYLVIA PORTER

There are 70,697,000 Americans either at work or looking for jobs today, 314,000 less than were in the nation's civilian labor force a year ago.

On the surface, these seem simple, dry enough statistics but actually, they are astounding, for they say something which doesn't seem to make sense and which not even the country's top manpower experts feel they can explain entirely to their own satisfaction.

How could there be 314,000 LESS men and women in our labor force than a year ago? We know that our total population is 3,000,000 larger than at this time in 1961 and that there should be about one million more of us working or looking for work. We know that as a result of the baby boom of the mid-1940s, millions are now in their teens and at this age level, hundreds of thousands of them unfortunately decide to leave school and seek paying jobs. We know that there has been a strong tendency among married women to try to return to the job market when their children grow up. We know that no catastrophe has occurred at home or abroad to wipe out a part of our work force.

In the face of all these things which we know, though, here are the figures just released by the U. S. Labor Dept. — 70,697,000 in the work force in March, 314,000 less than in March last year. So how can it be?

The answers, according to Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg, Labor Dept. manpower expert Seymour Wolfbein and the President's chief economic adviser Walter W. Heller, are both disheartening for now and in one way at least heartening for the future. Specifically:

(1) The decreasing demand for unskilled, uneducated workers in our complex society is either forcing or encouraging youngsters to remain in school to get the education they must have if they are to be able to fill the jobs which are and will be opening up. The young men and women whom the projections indicated would be looking for jobs at this time haven't just disappeared; they're somewhere and both Goldberg and Wolfbein suspect they're in school. This is the cheerful aspect of the puzzling employment drop. It suggests the spreading campaign to cut the number of drop-outs from elementary and high schools is having an impact. It forecasts a general rise in the level of education and skills of our work force. The more we can stimulate this movement, the better for the youngsters and for us all.

(2) The latest change in our Social Security law permitting men as well as women to retire on reduced benefits at the age of 62 is impelling older workers to leave the work force at a much faster pace than originally anticipated.

In some cases, the decisions may be happy ones; in many others, though, the retirement is involuntary, the worker is leaving the job market not because he wants to but because automation is making him obsolete and the economy isn't expanding rapidly enough to give him a chance to get other work. These are our unskilled, our uneducated workers and their retirement to the economic trash-heap is a personal tragedy for them and their families.

(3) The sluggish rise in employment opportunities is compelling many over-40 women who want to get paying jobs to stay home. While you may not consider the employment of these women significant, the fact that our economy isn't growing sufficiently to give them a place in the market place is hardly a cause for rejoicing.

(4) The relentless shrinkage in the total of farms in the U. S. is pushing hundreds of thousands of farmers — men, women, part-time workers — out of the agricultural work force. For many, the retirement is involuntary, the worker is leaving the job market not because he wants to but because automation

The only really cheerful explanation concerns the youngsters who are staying in school, postponing their entrance into the work force until they're prepared to be a constructive part of it. The rest of the answers say that good as this business expansion has been to date, it just hasn't been good enough to give all of us who are able and willing to work what we want most — a job.

Plenty of Returns Coming to Tax Office

MADISON (AP)—The State Department of Taxation estimates about 1,700,000 income tax returns will be filed with the state this year by the deadline at midnight today.

W. C. Maass, director of the department's income tax division, said 1,645,846 filings were made in 1961 on 1960 earnings.

planation concerns the youngsters who are staying in school, postponing their entrance into the work force until they're prepared to be a constructive part of it. The rest of the answers say that good as this business expansion has been to date, it just hasn't been good enough to give all of us who are able and willing to work what we want most — a job.

Social Workers At Wittenberg Publish Article

WITTENBERG — An article entitled "Tape Recording In Casework Practice" by the Rev. Quentin Goodrich, and Lawrence Rolefson, has been published in the March 1962 issue of the Lutheran Social Welfare Quarterly. The Journal is published by the National Lutheran Social Welfare Conference, composed of Lutheran agencies and individuals in the health and welfare field. The article describes the experiences of the authors in the tape recording of casework interviews. The focus is on the use of these recordings as a learning and teaching medium for the trained social worker in intensive therapy. Pastor Goodrich is a social work therapist at Homme Home for Boys, Wittenberg. He is also an ordained minister of the Lutheran Free Church.

WEYAUWEGA — The success of its first ice-out contest was recounted at a meeting of the Weyauwega Chamber of Commerce. The car has been removed from Lake Weyauwega, as required by law. The winners received checks, which were redeemable by Weyauwega merchants. Another contest is planned for next year. To Your Good Health

Endometritis Can Be Cured by Scraping

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is endometritis, what causes it, and can it be cured? Is it possible to get pregnant while having this?—I. R.

It is an inflammation of the lining of the uterus. It can result from a miscarriage, from some difficulty in the birth of a child, from the presence of infection, or in fact anything that can inflame a mucous membrane.

It can ordinarily be cured, the treatment varying (according to severity) from simple medication to a "D. & C.," meaning dilation and curettage (or scraping) of the inflamed area. It is possible to become pregnant while having this, but the problem is an interfering element.

Dear Sir: Please settle a question. My family has always taken vitamins at bedtime. Now a friend of mine says they should be taken in the morning so as to get the benefit in the daytime. I would like to make certain before continuing my practice of bedtime dose-outs.—Mrs. J. S.

Balanced Diet
This is nonsense, and there are too many serious matters to absorb us without making an argument out of whether vitamins should be taken in the morning or at night.

If we eat a reasonably balanced diet, we get the vitamins we need in our food. But if we insist on taking vitamins whether we need extra portions or not, we shouldn't waste time worrying about what time of day to do it. People who drink their orange juice at supper instead of at breakfast get just as many vitamins, and it does them just as much good.

Dear Dr. Molner: I was sterilized, tubes tied, in 1950, not due to any disease but because we had six children and I was anemic and run down. I am now 41 years old and a widow in good health. I have met a gentleman who wants to marry me. Can I have the sterilization undone?—M. M.

Maybe. In some cases the ends of the tubes can be sewed together, provided not too much scar tissue has formed from the tying or severing of the tubes. There is no positive way of being sure of success, however. And that's one reason why I frown on tying the tubes for this purpose. It's so often permanent. To see whether anything can be done now, consult a gynecologist.

Dear Dr. Molner: What about a congested larynx? Is Vitamin A good for it?—H. J. C.

See Throat Specialist
Forget about vitamins in this regard. If the congestion is chronic, perhaps with cough or change in voice, see a throat specialist to make sure it isn't from some serious cause such as a tumor or even an early cancer.

But if the congestion (and hoarseness) is a temporary result of an ordinary cold or the like, then: 1—stop smoking; 2—avoid inhaling irritating fumes if you have any reason to encounter them; 3—don't talk too much; 4—using a steam inhalator, either plain or with aromatic medication added, will speed relief.

NOTE TO MRS. E. C.: I agree with you and your husband: a baby is not "marked" while the mother is carrying it. And a quarter of a million doctors will say the same thing. But I don't

Charlie Remembers Funny Ones From European Trip Held Last Year

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Now that it has been established that Wisconsin folks are again to take a trip to Europe under the banners of the Press-Gazette and the Post-Crescent, I have got to laugh.

I laugh because I think of some of the funny things that happened when, under the same sponsorship last year, I traveled with the group.

I remember that one of our people decided to be a good traveler. When we were in Holland one of our people walked up to a Hollandish version of a hot-dog stand.

It was an ocean-side stand on the North Sea, and our traveler walked up to it and, because he was unable to speak the language, he shoved one finger into the air and ordered one of whatever it was the stand was selling.

He was amazed to see the vendor grasp a raw herring and roll it into some raw chopped onions. He accepted it, and looked at it bravely while the herring looked at him. He was unable to attack it, but finally found one of our travelers who would be bold enough to give it a try.

The trick was, we were told, to let the herring slip right down but to sort of snap at it a little while it was enroute. This was done.

"I managed to get her down," said the brave one, some time later, "but for about a week I swear I could feel that herring swimming around inside of me."

I'd better not reveal the name, either, of one of my chickens, as I called the travelers, who went to buy something in a store in Paris.

A Handful?

Since she had not troubled to find how the French monetary system worked, she used the common expedient of pointing to the wanted article and offering a handful of money.

This always worked well and, to the best of our knowledge, the merchants were scrupulously honest. They took only what was due them.

However, our lady ordered what she wanted and she held out her hand filled with coins. The French sales clerk took all the money and then said, "Encore" which means "more!"

My chicken was startled and just stood there trying to understand. Once again the clerk said, "Encore!" Then my fellow traveler made me proud of her. She set her purse on the counter and applauded heartily!

On one of our short flights from Rome to the French Riviera, one showered and shaved and proposed for a start the next morning. Then he showered and shaved, and dressed and came down to meet us all in the lobby.

Emmel was surprised to find himself alone except for the porter who kindly suggested that maybe he ought to go back to bed—that it was only 2:00 o'clock in the morning.

While this may not be part of our story on amusing things, I must add that many of our people made firm and fast friends in Europe as well as among themselves.

It happened that our tour leader, one Harald Martin Asphaug, a Norwegian from Namsos, came to be a very good friend of mine and from that friendship, something interesting has developed.

One of my children is going to Norway for a year to stay with friends of my friend, Harald. Harald's friend is going to send me one of his children for a year—a sort of an exchange of kids.

One of the benefits is that the trade is going to be singularly inexpensive. The only cost—to either of us—is that of transportation. Any other expense will be no more than it would be for our own child.

He'll Learn

Hence, my young son will be given the benefit of European thinking and a year of European education, plus exposure to at least three languages which I trust he will learn while he is there. The Norwegian boy will, of course, have similar benefits in our country.

It seems to me that many of our people might choose to take this trip to Europe with some similar plan in mind. We all found Europeans extremely friendly and it would not be difficult to find some interesting European who might be very pleased to effect such a trade.

Sells Restaurant

AMHERST—Mrs. Mary Lingle, who has owned and operated the Amherst Cafe, sold her business to Richard Ross, Stevens Point, who will add a recreation parlor in addition to the restaurant. It will be managed by George Wilkinson, Stevens Point. Mrs. Lingle and son, Robert, will move to Pennsylvania.

Those Packers!

"Oh," said the international traveler, "how are the Packers doing?"

But one of the best bon mots of the whole trip was one which was created on the spot by Miss Carol Roloff of Kaukauna.

We were in London at the time and I was explaining to Miss Roloff that the English people measure weight by "stones" and that a stone weighs 14 of our pounds. Hence, I explained, if a person weighs 140 pounds he would be said, in England, to weigh "14 stone."

Said Miss Roloff: "I've gained so much weight from the good food on this trip that I could start a quarry!"

On our exciting tour of the great cities of Europe, some of us now and then forgot to allow for the time changes. For example, when we arrived at Copenhagen and checked into our hotel there, some of us didn't pay attention to the six hour difference between the hour in Denmark and the time in New York whence we had come.

Gay Fellow

Karl Emmel, a wonderfully gay fellow who lives in Green Bay, went to his room and to sleep. He set his alarm clock for the time we had proposed for the start the next morning. Then he

Few Changes In New French 5th Republic

Pompidou's Cabinet
Essentially Same
As Michel Debre's

CHICAGO Daily News Service
PARIS — The new French government formed by Georges Pompidou Sunday, the second in President Charles de Gaulle's Fifth Republic, is essentially the same as that of his predecessor, Michel Debre, with a few unimportant changes.

It's composed of 29 ministers instead of the 28 in the Debre government with all major governmental jobs remaining in the same hands.

French foreign affairs will still be conducted by Maurice Couve de Murville. Security Chief is still Roger Frey and Louis Joxe retains the important job of leading Algeria toward independence.

Try at Placation
If anything, Pompidou seems to have tried to placate parliament by bringing in more leaders of the traditional political parties such as the moderate leftist popular Republicans, the moderate rightist independents and Gaullist UNR Party. Of the new ministers, 22 are party members and sit in parliament as against 17 in the Debre government. Ministers with no political experience but with "technical" background have been reduced from nine to seven.

Three newcomers have had prominent ministerial jobs in the Fourth Republic and join a Fifth Republic government for the first time.

Maurice Schumann, head of the Free French Radio, stationed in London during the war, becomes Minister in Charge of National Planning.

The last premier of the Fourth Republic, Pierre Pflimlin, becomes Minister of European Cooperation and Gaston Palewski, ambassador to Rome, and former assistant to de Gaulle, heads scientific research.

Train Hits, Kills 7-Year-Old Boy

KEWASKUM, Wis. (AP)—Daniel Wietor, 7, was killed Sunday when struck by a Chicago and North Western passenger train on a trestle over a stream just south of the city limits. The boy's five companions fled the trestle uninjured.

Washington County authorities said Daniel, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Wietor of Kewaskum, ran alone and was overtaken by the train and killed. The boy's five small friends ran the other way and escaped.

with fricassee. Three quarts of milk!

Well, first thing we did, Guerra and I, we grabbed it with our hands. We started grabbing things. Then we looked at each other across the table, and realized where we were.

I asked for pardon. My mother said, "No, no, keep eating." And grandfather said, "Eat, eat."

Lost 40 Pounds
But my stomach was not used to it. My stomach started growling. I looked at them, but they said, "Go on. Eat."

The pain spoils your appetite sometimes. I weighed 170 before the invasion. Now I weigh about 130.

In the evening, friends came by. They asked about my legs. I wanted to talk, but I couldn't. I have forgotten the art of talk. I wanted to say things, and I couldn't say them. My legs hurt during the evening.

Helped Into Bed
In prison we went to bed early, so I was very sleepy but we stayed up our first night here until about 1.30 in the morning.

Then my mother helped to put me to bed. She helped take off the braces and get my legs a certain way in the bed. They have to be a certain way or the pain... well, sometimes it's hard to sleep unless they're right.

My mother didn't say much. There was so much unspoken. She looked at me for a long time, and then she said, "Sleep well."

I couldn't go right to sleep. The bed, it was too soft. I kept feeling like I was sinking, down, down. I couldn't stop sinking in that soft bed.

Then I slept. I did not dream anything at all.

Two of Wisconsin's top political figures, Democratic Gov. Gaylord Nelson, left, and Republican Sen. Alexander Wiley, right, joined last night in a Milwaukee observance of the B'nai B'rith centennial. Seated between them is Label Katz, New Orleans, president of B'nai B'rith international. Standing is the Very Rev. William F. Kelley, president of Marquette University.

nouncement last Tuesday of a boycott touched off—as in the past—a parade of virtually identical increases by other firms.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy had put the finger on U.S. Steel last week. In discussing the questions being explored by the Justice Department, he said one was whether "one company, namely U.S. Steel, so dominates the industry that it controls prices and should be broken up."

As the Sherman and Clayton antitrust laws now stand, the legal requirements for dismembering an existing corporation are much more difficult than those for preventing a merger which might tend to create a monopoly.

Gore's proposals, as he explained them, would make the latter requirements applicable in cases where the government seeks to force a split-up of a corporation which already has acquired monopolistic power.

Opposes Reprisals
The President's closest advisers said he wants no reprisals and hopes to preserve the good will and cooperation of business generally. Still, the administration was following through with the measures it set in motion to quash the steel price boost.

The Justice Department was pressing ahead with the federal grand jury investigation in New York which Atty. Gen. Kennedy ordered last Wednesday.

A multimillion-dollar order for high-grade steel that normally would have been divided between Lukens Steel Co. of Coatesville, Pa., and U.S. Steel apparently will go wholly to Lukens. U.S. Steel was crossed off after its price rise, and the Pentagon has made no move to change the decision.

The investigation ordered by the House Antitrust subcommittee headed by Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., also was scheduled to open on May 2. But it appeared that Celler would let the Kefauver subcommittee do most of the ball-carrying.

Mother Learns Unknown Soldier Isn't Her Son

NICASTRO, Italy (AP)—Every day for 22 years Anna Rocca placed flowers on the local tomb of the unknown soldier in memory of her soldier son.

Cesare Rocca went off to war in 1936 as a member of Benito Mussolini's black-shirt troops in Ethiopia. His last letter was written in June 1940. After the war the Defense Ministry ruled him lost and awarded Mrs. Rocca a monthly pension of 10,000 lire—$16.

Over the weekend a letter arrived from Ethiopia, from Cesare to his brother, Vincenzo. Now 52, Cesare said he had married an Ethiopian woman and had two sons. He gave no explanation for his long silence but said he planned to come home soon to see his mother.

shah used to sum up his reaction to the various space age items he saw in a 2½ hour tour of Cape Canaveral.

"I have always been tremendously interested in your space programs, but I never realized they were of this magnitude," he said.

The shah donned the flight safety helmet of the missileman to take a close look at a Saturn rocket. He walked around the base and took an elevator to the 265-foot level of the service tower to look down on the missile and gain a panoramic view of the Cape.

Asks About Glenn
Earlier, he was briefed at Mercury control center on how orbiting space pilots are tracked, and he asked many questions about John H. Glenn's three orbits of the earth.

At Hangar S, where astronauts and their space capsules are readied for flight, he stuck his head and shoulders into the capsule in which Scott Carpenter soon will attempt to duplicate Glenn's flight.

The shah also visited below decks on the Polaris submarine Thomas Edison before starting northward on a flight that touched down at Pope Air Force Base, N.C. where he observed joint Air Force-Army operations.

Jewish Group Against Sectarian Services In Public Schools

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Jewish Congress has gone on record against any sectarian observances in public schools such as Bible-reading, prayer recitation and religious holiday celebrations. Among the religious holidays the group listed Christmas and Hanukkah, the eight-day Jewish Festival of Light.

Five hundred delegates unanimously asserted at the final session Sunday that sectarian practices impair religious freedom, violate the principle of church-state separation and interfere with fulfillment by the schools of their educational function.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, back here last week to resign his position as President Kennedy's personal representative in West Berlin, said the easing of tensions had improved the possibility of an East-West agreement.

Clay returned to the German city Sunday to wrap up his affairs.

Undersecretary of State George Ball said in an interview Sunday that Rusk in his talks with Soviet leaders, is probing the possibilities for some kind of live-and-let-live understanding between Washington and Moscow over Berlin.

Questioned on a television program—ABC "Issues and Answers"—Ball deplored reports of U.S.-West German differences and said:

1. Any proposals which Rusk makes to Dobrynin in their round of talks "will have the support of the West German government—there is no doubt of that."
2. Issues up for U.S.-Soviet consultation "are not matters on which there is any disagreement among us."
3. The United States has "no thought of recognizing the East German government."

After Short Pitch, Couple
Pays $90 for $3,000 Purchase

BY J. A. LIVINGSTON
A bit like the youngster getting set for his first dive, a husband and wife sit in the living room.

Livingston

A man from a brokerage firm is to call and talk a b-o-u-t common stocks. The doorbell rings, a well-groomed, well-schooled man of 32 enters with a respectfully battered dispatch case. "I know your evenings are very important to you," he promptly says. "I'll come directly to the point."

Second of Series

He asks about plans for the future, whether there's a big mortgage on the house, if there is insurance to protect Mrs. P. He coughs hesitantly. "We must face life's uncertainties," you know.

'Savings Win Race'

He brings out a chart showing that (a) stock prices and (b) dividends have risen faster than the cost of living. Another chart indicates that the mutual fund he recommends has done better than stocks in the Dow Jones average. "If your money had been in our fund," he says, "your savings would have won the race against inflation and the stock market."

Patriotic Appeal

He points out that some of these dividends were from profits on the sale of securities — capital gains. He allows that they may not always take place. "You never can tell what will happen in the stock market. Still, over the years, 6 per cent has been a minimum, and in many years it's been 7 per cent. These people know when to take profits."

Finally, he appeals to the possessive instinct, patriotism, faith in America, and the national desire for security. You'll have a stake in American Telephone & Telegraph, United States Steel, American Can, International Business Machines (it, alone, sells for more than $500 a share — to buy five shares would take $2,500 — would you feel comfortable with that much money in one company?), du Pont, and General Motors Corp.

He points to a few electronic and space-age companies in the fund portfolio. "The management is not overlooking any bets — it's keeping pace with the future. Some of these are speculative, but there's so much solid stuff here, a few risks can safely be taken. Don't you agree?"

Husband and wife now look at one another in the telepathic way attuned married couples develop. Their eyes say "Yes," and husband then says aloud for the salesman's benefit, "Do you think we ought to take a little flier, Nell?" At once the salesman interjects: "I know how you feel, sir. You've never done anything like this before. This may seem like a flier to you. But I assure you, it isn't. This company has been in existence for more than 25 years. Its management is experienced. Let's say you're changing the direction of your savings, not taking a flier."

$90 for Sales Talk

And then, the salesman offers to leave the room while husband and wife talk over how much they'd like to put into this "modern way of saving." How much, not whether!

Soon he has made a sale. The couple buys $3,000 worth, paying a sales fee of about $240. Of that, the selling organization for the fund would get about $60. The salesman and his brokerage firm would probably split the rest. So the salesman got about $90. Did he deserve it? Was that too much, too little, or just right?

A mutual fund salesman is as "worthy of his hire" as a Fuller brush, vacuum cleaner, or life insurance salesman. For every successful call he makes, he probably gets two or three "I'll-let-you-knows."

That's the argument brokers and mutual fund operators use to justify the 7½ to 8½ per cent sales commission.

Tormenting Rectal Itch Stopped In Minutes

Science Finds New Healing Substance That Promptly Stops Itching and Pain of Piles

New York, N. Y. (Special) — One of the most common afflictions is a condition known as "itching piles." It is most embarrassing for the victim during the day and especially aggravating at night.

No matter what you've used without results — here's good news. For the first time, science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to promptly stop the burning itch and pain. It actually shrinks hemorrhoids — without surgery. Medical science has proved this substance produces a remarkably effective rate of healing. Its germ-killing properties also help prevent infection.

In one hemorrhoid case after another "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations. This improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of months! Among these sufferers were a wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years duration.

The secret is this new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — discovery of a world-famous research institution. This substance is now obtainable in ointment or suppository form known as Preparation H. Ask for Preparation H Suppositories (convenient to carry if away from home) or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Available at all drug counters.

Sheinwold Bid Steals Foes' Game

The non-forcing double raise in a major suit is one of the most useful bidding developments of recent years. Don't try to use this bid with a stranger in a casual game; save it for your regular partners, after careful discussion.

North's jump to three hearts shows four trumps and about 10 or 11 points (counting distribution as well as high cards). In this case North counts 4 points for the ace, 3 for the king, and 2 for the singleton. The hand is actually worth a trifle more, since the king of the trump suit is as good as an ace in a side suit.

North could not afford a jump raise if that were a forcing bid. The raise is only invitational if that has been carefully discussed by the partners and also explained to the opponents.

In this case South must decline the invitation. He has only a bare minimum opening bid, and the invitation tells him to go on only if he has extra strength.

Makes Contract
South makes the contract by ruffing two spades in the dummy. The normal spade opening lead gives South no trouble at all.

If West opened a trump (the best defense), declarer would win in the dummy with the king of hearts and return a spade at once. Even a trump return would allow South to win and ruff a spade in dummy. He would get back with the ace of diamonds to ruff another spade, and the rest would be easy.

The most interesting feature of the bidding is that the jump to three hearts shuts East out of the bidding. If North had bid only two clubs (the "normal" bid), East could have doubled for a takeout.

East and West can make four spades, but the energetic North-South bidding steals the hand from them. There are many situations in which a player can afford to enter the bidding at the level of one or two but is shut out by an opponent's jump to three. This shut-out effect is one of the chief advantages of the non-forcing double raise.

Daily Question
Dealer bids one heart, your partner doubles and the next player jumps to three hearts. You hold: S-K-Q-7-2; H-7-6-3; D-J-6-5; C-K-10-4. What do you say?

Woolens Are Choice For Easter

American woolens in all their versatile variety of textures and patterns will be the dominant stars of that perennial harbinger of spring finery, the Easter Parade.

For the whole family—women's, men's and children's wear—the American wool textile industry has created a wide assortment of weaves, weights and textures to make exciting news in the fashion industry.

Grand Assortment

This year's Easter parade will see a grand assortment of woolens in both light and thick yarns, blurry cheeks in finely woven worsteds, tweeds woven in as many as six different yarns splashed with a rainbow of color. Nubby woolens are represented and crepes have a grainy look, but are more supple and resilient. There are many other woolens featuring nubs, loops, boucles, fancy twists and textures, all shot through with fancy yarns, to create a fashion plate. The American mills also have provided the classic plaids, bold and subdued in Glen plaids and other traditional designs in every color and fabric range.

In this year's Easter Parade, American-made wool will be right in step in the front ranks of fashion pace setters.

Disinfecting

Do you know how to disinfect a sickroom after a family patient has recovered from an infectious disease? The New York City Department of Health states that this requires only thorough scrubbing with soap and water, plus subsequent airing.

CONGRATULATING PARENTS

Does a guest at a wedding reception congratulate the bride's and bridegroom's parents? If not, what is customary to say? Do the relatives throw rice or do just friends of the married couple? Do the bride's parents lead the receiving line or the bridegroom's? Who is supposed to give a party on the evening of the rehearsal?

Louise Davis Answers:

The bridegroom is the only one who is congratulated. Guests should move along the receiving line as quickly as possible so that others won't be waiting. They shake hands and say pleasant and flattering remarks. Example: (to the bride's mother) What a beautiful wedding. I never saw Mary more radiant. To the bridegroom's mother (if one hasn't previously met her) How nice it is to meet Bob's mother. Or just say, after announcing your name,

Monday, April 16, 1962 Appleton Post-Crescent A14

"How do you do" and move on. Any or all may throw rice. The order of the receiving line is: bride's parents, bridegroom's parents, bride, bridegroom, maid and matron of honor, bridesmaids. Anyone may give the rehearsal party. Generally the bridegroom's parents do, but there is no rule that they must.

DROPPING "JUNIOR"

I am certain you must have answered this before, but the question has just come up in our family. When John Joseph Blank, Jr.'s father passes away, does young John drop the "Junior" after his name?

Louise Davis Answers:

Theoretically, yes. But reasons of sentiment and respect, he is apt to continue using the "Junior" for a few months without getting criticism while the memory of his father is so fresh.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Accessories can make or break a costume. That may be an old saw, but it still has a mighty sharp edge. If overdone, accessories create chaos. As witness the damsel with a red hat, gloves, shoes and purse. But even the single accessory—a pin on a dress—is disturbing when it is ill-chosen.

Many elements enter into ideal selections. Not the least of those are color, type and fashion value.

keyed to the kind of clothes they adorn and to the hour they are worn. The second point is more often missed. One sees a cocktail purse with a basic black dress in the morning and the virtue of basic black is its affinity for appropriate accessorizing, whatever the hour.

Fashion value, of course, comes with new accessories. At the moment, that could mean bikini

Accessories Important

In the area of color, this rule of thumb is helpful. Use no more than three shades in a costume, and no more than three accessories in one shade.

For instance, an azure blue coat might be teamed with a matching hat, bright-navy patent shoes and purse, white gloves and jewelry. Naturally there are more sophisticated combinations, but the simple ones are often more striking. As for type, accessories must be and four-button length gloves, drop earrings or bar pins . . . handbags, on the smaller side, in quilted leather, reptiles or textured fabrics.

But for full fashion value, star one accessory. Let the others play supporting roles. A pale yellow suit, neutral leathers and a knockout turquoise pin exemplifies the idea. Following it makes for star-quality dressing.

Clear varnish and plastic lacquer are excellent finishes for west coast hemlock and western red cedar wall paneling. These hard finishes are preferred when protection is needed against nicks and fingerprints, such as in children's rooms, the kitchen, and for cabinetwork. To eliminate gloss, buff lightly with very fine steel wool.

Circulate Heat

Free circulation of air is essential for adequate heat distribution in a room. Draperies and furniture sometimes block an outlet and cause uneven heat. It is a good idea to check radiators and convectors occasionally to see that air circulates freely around them.

Your Problems

'Cornerstone of Marriage' Feels Like Tombstone to Wife

BY ANN LANDERS
DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm 33 and I feel like 102. I walk around half dead and I need some advice before I crack up.
Virgil falls asleep the minute his head hits the pillow. He never hears the children calling for a glass of water, naturally — what father does? He is deaf to the alarm clock, the fire engines, police sirens — everything. I sleep very poorly — that is, once I get to sleep. Then I'm up half the night fighting for a corner of the bed and a little patch of blanket. Virgil thrashes around, takes his half of the bed out of the middle, and some nights I don't average three hours sleep. I've begged Virgil to let me buy twin beds. He says absolutely not. He says a double bed is the cornerstone of a good marriage. What do you say? — Half Dead

Dear Half: Tell Virgil a double bed may be the cornerstone but exhaustion could be the tombstone.
I strongly recommend twin beds with a single headboard. You use one bedspread and it looks like a single bed when made up, but each twin bed has its own sheets and blankets.
P.S. I hope you enjoy your new furniture.
DEAR ANN LANDERS: What do you think of a woman who is wealthy enough to employ two maids, a cook, a laundress and a chauffeur, yet she buys two grades of canned goods, one for the help and one for the family. When they have steak for dinner the help gets hamburger, beef liver or spaghetti.
The employees must buy their own uniforms, and Madame tells them where to buy them and how much to spend. This woman is very active in fancy charities and every other week she "asks" her employees to purchase raffle tickets and chances on mink coats, cruises and what-not.
Any comment? — Overworked and Underpaid
Dear Overworked and Underpaid: Few things are less attractive than a well-to-do woman who exploits her employees. But one of those things is the employee who accepts the abuse and stays in her employ and complains to anyone who has two ears and will listen.

This woman sounds terrible. If you had any self respect you'd leave.
DEAR ANN: I'm a new guy in town, age 27, steady job, '60 Chevy convertible, and not hard to look at. I like to dance, swim, bowl, play tennis and I sing a little, too.
It's tough to meet the right people when you're new in town. You must get letters from gals who are also newcomers and who are finding it rough to meet people. Ann. Think of all the good you could do if you would put people like us together. You might even help me find my dream girl.
Please don't tell me to join a church group. I tried that in the last town and every one of those creeps has a crooked hern or a man's haircut. Thanks. — New Man
Dear Man: I never put people in touch through this column. True, I might be able to do some good, but I know I could do plenty of harm.
And besides, how can I tell from a letter who has a crooked hern or a man's haircut? Find "dream girl" on your own, Bub.
If alcohol is robbing you or someone you love of health and dignity, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Help For The Alcoholic," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.
Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Christian Mothers Help Raise Funds

GREENVILLE — A white elephant sale was held by the Christian Mothers of St. Mary parish and St. Patrick parish to raise money for foreign relief.

Mrs. Hubert Wetak, diocesan president, asked for a donation for the National Council of Catholic Women and Mrs. William Madden, diocesan spiritual development leader asked for a donation for the Sacred Heart TV program.
Apostleship of prayer cards were given to each member and Mrs. L. J. Stadler sent rosary crusade cards for the migrants working in the diocese.

PET DOCTOR

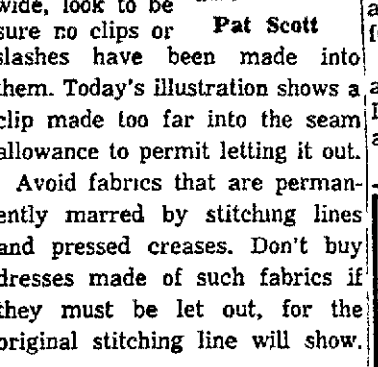

By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Q. My cat is 12 years old and she has "Coccidiosis." Is there a cure and can it be done in my home? Mary Henoch, Banning, Calif.
A. Coccidiosis is an intestinal infection which affects most species of domestic animals, including birds. Most common in the young, it can affect animals of all ages. The main symptoms are diarrhea followed by general dehydration and, in severe cases, anemia. Even after an animal is apparently cured, it may remain a carrier spreading the disease. It is very important that strict sanitation be observed when coccidiosis is suspected. The newer sulfa drugs and other chemotherapeutic agents have greatly eased the task of curing this condition. These drugs are sold only on prescription, and your veterinarian must decide whether the cat should be hospitalized or treated at home.
(Dr. Moller will send books on pet care to readers submitting best questions. Mail yours on a postcard in care of this paper.)

SEAMS TO ME

By Patricia Scott

Here are some things to look for if you plan to buy a dress that needs alterations.
Obviously, you can't lengthen skirts if the hems are skimpy, or let out seams if there isn't enough material. However, even if the allowances are wide, look to be sure no clips or slashes have been made into them. Today's illustration shows a clip made too far into the seam allowance to permit letting it out.
Avoid fabrics that are permanently marred by stitching lines and pressed creases. Don't buy dresses made of such fabrics if they must be let out, for the original stitching line will show.

Pat Scott

Some alterations require so much time and skill that it just isn't practical to bother with them. Unless you're absolutely sure that you can do the job perfectly, avoid alterations on shoulder seams, armholes and necklines.
Your waist length often determines the styles that can be altered. For instance, the short-waisted woman who must shorten the bodice of every dress and suit she buys should look for styles with waistline seams. It's almost impossible to alter a princess style or fitted jacket which has no waistline seam to adjust. This style clings to your waistline, causing the upper part of the garment to blouse or bag. Ripping the seams to allow it to fall into place will not work, because the garment is too narrow below the new waistline to go around the hip curve.
The long-waisted woman's problem is just the opposite. A dress with a waistline seam is difficult to alter because the chances are there won't be enough extra fabric in the blouse to allow lengthening. If a princess line or fitted jacket fits well above the waist, it can easily be altered. All you have to do is take the seams in below the original waistline, forming a new shape to fit your long waisted figure.
Avoid alterations that ruin the Summer School To be Open to All Students

Classes Offered On Senior, Junior, Grade Levels

Parents interested in the summer school session planned by the Appleton public school system have been asked to contact the public or parochial school principal where their child is enrolled for further information. William H. Spears, assistant superintendent of schools, has announced.

The six-week session will start June 18 and end July 27. All pupils living in the Appleton School District, in public and parochial schools, are eligible. All classes have limited enrollments.

The classes are designed to meet the needs of two types of pupils: those who are in need of remedial help, and those who wish enrichment beyond the scope of instruction normally given in the regular classroom situation, Spears said.

Enrollments will necessarily be on a selective basis and limited to the number of teaching staff members available for the summer, he said.

Senior high school offerings include personal typing, first year geometry, 10th grade English, engineering drawing, typesetting, first year algebra, first year art, English (grammar, composition and creative writing), and music (wind and string).

Junior high school classes to be offered include ninth grade English, personal typing, arithmetic (review), developmental reading, ninth grade government, earth science and modern mathematics. Offerings for elementary school pupils include reading, arithmetic (review), speech, therapy and earth science.

Two Hearings Scheduled by School Groups

CLINTONVILLE — Two public hearings have been scheduled at the Clintonville Senior High School with the first one at 8 p.m. Tuesday by the Waupaca, Shawano and Outagamie counties joint school committee.

The committee will consider the attachment of a part of School District No. 2 which includes the Towns of Union and Little Wolf or the Synco School District to Clintonville Joint School District No. 1.

The dissolution of School District 4 (Wolf River School District) which includes the Towns of Matteson and Navarino also will be considered. Attachment of the area to the Clintonville district is proposed.

Project 70 Unit Will Push for New Fire Station

The Project 70 committee of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce has formed a subcommittee that will push for construction of a new downtown fire station.

John Conway, chairman of the committee, appointed Richard Stack, Jack Wells, Willard Johnson and R. Masse to work with him.

The committee will meet for the first time April 19. The present downtown fire station and Washington and Oneida streets was built in 1932.

Appleton City Officials elected April 3 have taken their oaths of office for the next two years. Above, City Clerk Elden Broehm swears in Assessor John Pierre, Atty. Fred Froehlich, Treasurer Ray L. Fetterstein and Mayor Clarence Mitchell. All are incumbents except Froehlich. Below, the oath for Broehm is administered by County Judge Raymond P. Dohr.

27 Appleton Seniors Join Honor Society

Students Admitted on Basis of Scholarship At Formal Presentation in AHS Auditorium

Twenty-seven Appleton High School seniors were received into the National Honor Society today at the 35th annual induction of members at the school. They received gold pins and membership cards at an assembly for the student body and parents.

The honored students were chosen by all scholastically eligible seniors, the faculty and a faculty committee of 10 members. They received special delivery letters Sunday informing them of their election.

The Rev. Marvin Schilling, pastor of the First Methodist Church, was guest speaker for the afternoon ceremonies. Herbert H. Heibe, Appleton High School principal, explained the meaning of the honors. Edward Flynn, AHS social studies teacher, interpreted the symbols, and Charles Cook, dean of boys, read the pledge.

Reception Follows

Following the ceremonies, a reception for new members, their families and the faculty was held in the Early American Room.

There are four bases for election to the society. To be scholastically eligible for membership, a student must rank in the upper 25 per cent of his class for the first seven semesters of high school work. He must also demonstrate superior character, high

Sign for Tour Early, Don't Be Disappointed

Only 30 Can Go on Post-Crescent's European Trip

"It seems like a long time until July 7, but friends who had been on your last tour told me I would want the time to make all the proper arrangements, so I'm coming in to register now. My friends also told me I shouldn't miss this opportunity by any means."

That's how one of the young ladies described her reasons for signing up for the Post-Crescent

Holiday In Europe tour at Mary Ebben Travel, Inc.

She was one of the first to officially register for the 22-day voyage. Since then, several others have registered for the tour not wanting, as they said, to risk the disappointment of being left out of the 30-persons group.

Those who have registered so far, both men and women, range from young through middle age to the slightly elderly.

"It sounds like a very congenial group," one woman said. "Like me, they are all single people, though I suppose we shall have some wonderful couples and families along, too," she said.

"The single people like me are sold on the many benefits of the tour, for so comparatively little money, and the fact that one will not have to worry about hotels or one's luggage, or fussing with all that different money," she concluded.

These persons will join others still expected to sign for the Holiday In Europe that will take them to the major sights and cities of eight European countries including Denmark, France, Italy, Switzerland, Germany, Holland, England and Scotland.

They will span the ever-narrowing Atlantic in fast Scandinavian Airlines DC8 jet planes allowing them maximum time in Europe.

Brochures which outline the complete trip, are being sent, without obligation, to anyone requesting them by Mary Ebben Travel, Inc., The bureau, with cooperation of Bennett-Tours, Milwaukee, is handling all arrangements for the tour.

Key Personnel

Despite the name, the Tri-States association is made up of directors and key hospital personnel from four states. Miss Elliott will be the lone Wisconsin representative participating in the panel presentation. General theme of the affair is "Marshalling Forces to Utilize Resources." Representing the Kaukauna Hospital Auxiliary at the assembly will be Mrs. Louise McGoey.

The hospital administrator recently was honored by being elected to a second term as president of the Northeastern Council of Hospital Administrators, representing 14 hospitals in Wisconsin.

Fox Cities Nurses To Have Fashion Show

A fashion show for the general duty nurses section of the Appleton-Neenah-Menasha area will be held at the Hotel Menasha at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Fashions will be provided by Jandrey's in Neenah, and will include basic outfits with several changes of hats and jewelry. Models will be Mrs. Leroy Thibodeau and Mrs. Ronald Moderson.

Dr. Ralph Landis will be the guest speaker following the fashion show, and will present a travelogue.

Kitchen Damaged in Neenah House Fire

NEENAH — Firemen were called at 11:38 a.m. today to the George Schneider home, 1335 Maple St., to extinguish a fire in the kitchen. Mrs. Schneider had been making doughnuts and had gone momentarily to a neighbor's home when the fire started.

2 Kaukauna Break-ins Investigated

KAUKAUNA — Kaukauna police are investigating two break-ins over the weekend, one resulting in the theft of about $9 in old coins from the offices of Dr. Edward Bolinske and Dr. Jerome Paulson, 120 E. Police and sheriff's personnel are investigating.

Chairman, Vice Chairman, Main Committees to be Elected at Morning Session

The Outagamie County Board will elect its principal committees and its chairman and vice chairman at the opening session of the annual meeting Tuesday.

Alvin Fulcer, Kimberly village president and chairman on the board for seven terms, is expected to be re-elected to head the 55-member governing body.

Also on Tuesday morning, the board will elect four members to the executive committee, five members to the highway committee and four members to the committee on committees.

The board chairman automatically serves on the executive committee and committee on committees.

If the board follows usual procedure, it will adjourn about noon until Wednesday. The committee on committees will appoint members to the other standing committees Tuesday afternoon and those committees will organize within the next day or two and select meeting dates.

Other major business scheduled before the board this session includes a presentation on plans for the new airport and a report from the highway committee on a proposal that construction contracts be let to private bidders rather than have road building done by county crews; an equipment.

Chairman Fulcer said the airport discussion is set for 2 p.m. Wednesday and the highway matter is on the agenda for 10 a.m. Thursday. He said the session, which traditionally takes three or four days, may not be completed until Friday.

Plan Commission Approves Multiple Family Use of House

Rezoning of a two-family home at 539 E. South River St. from two family to multiple family was approved by the Appleton planning commission this morning. The property is owned by Gerard Hearden.

Hearden has two apartments in the large frame house and wishes to make a third.

Rezoning was approved on the condition that he build a separate entrance to serve the third apartment. There are two entrances now.

Approval was given after a report by City Planner Walter Rasmussen saying that he, the building inspector and the board of health had inspected the building and found it satisfactory for multiple family use.

Among his many books, "Road to Serfdom" has been described as "immensely influential." Fortune magazine said of it, "Few books have done more to combat the socialist myth." Also receiving considerable comment in the economic world and leading financial and trade papers is his most recent book, "The Constitution of Liberty," which Hayek says is an attempt at a "comprehensive restatement of the basic principles of a philosophy of freedom."

Among his other books are "Individualism and the Economic Order," "The Sensory Order," and "The Pure Theory of Capital."

Court Won't Consider Challenge on Church Exemptions From Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused today to consider an appeal challenging constitutionality of tax exemptions granted church properties by states.

The high tribunal also declined to rule on validity of state tax exemptions granted to veterans, veterans' organizations, Gold Star parents, cemeteries and some university professors.

Final rulings were asked in an appeal by General Finance Corp., owner of real estate in Cranston, R.I., on which the city levied a tax of $842.

The firm figured its tax would have been about $30 less if the various tax exemptions had not been granted by the state. Its attack on constitutionality of such exemptions was rejected by the Rhode Island Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court's action was announced in a brief order which said the appeal by General Finance had to be dismissed for want of a substantial federal question.

Justice Hugo Black noted he favored hearing the appeal. Justice Felix Frankfurter and the new justice, Byron R. White, took no part in consideration of the appeal.

The court's vote thus was 6-1.

recommendation that the Lake Winnebago access site approved for purchase by the County Board and by the State Conservation Commission not be rezoned for recreational purposes.

If this recommendation is approved by the Board, the proposed purchase of the site is expected to be dropped. The County Board had planned use of that site on the John S. Grundman property in the Town of Vinland for the parking of cars and boat trailers and for a public boat launching site.

The aviation committee is submitting a request that the Board go on record opposing the proposed Outagamie County airport location on the grounds it might interfere with the Winnebago County airport's instrument landing system.

Tuesday morning's session will open with the election of a chairman and vice chairman. Those posts now are held by Joseph Drexler, Oshkosh, and John Heigl, Neenah, respectively.

Bravos to Director

Lawrence Symphony Chords Concertgoers

BY DON VORPAHL

Where the Lawrence Symphony Orchestra left off in November, it picked up again last night, firing about 475 concert goers at Memorial Chapel into ecstasy with some really stirring music.

This time, not enough praise could be given brilliant young acting conductor, Dr. Joseph Henry, who replaces Kenneth Byler, now on a research leave. Henry has the college musicians' eager and hungry, and amazingly responsive to his conducting fluency.

Orchestral traditions are not easily made, especially in the Fox Cities; but if Byler, Henry, these young people and their few adult helpers have any say, an exciting tradition may be in the making.

Colorful Program — Last night's program was particularly colorful. Henry programmed the seldom-heard Mendelssohn overture, "Die Schöne Melusine," and Haydn's "Militaire," and Dvorak's "8th" symphony. From this base, the 61-piece orchestra displayed its generally sound technical ability, and had wide latitude for interpreting and coloring.

Off to a shaky start, at the Mendelssohn's delicate beginning, they quickly showed a trait that marked this entire evening—they recovered soundly, and held their heads high. The work lacked the precision of the rest of their concert, but it previewed their big string tone, and certainly had a pleasant mood.

Several broad skills marked this orchestra. The strings liked to sing out a melody. They did because they had confidence. The entire orchestra was well rehearsed. This was evident in the explosiveness of their attacks and their resolute, even bold cadences. It was affirmed by the strength of independent voice lines in almost every part of the ensemble.

Played Lyrically — Best of all, when put together, these abilities totaled a responsive, confident style that lent itself to the interpretive excellence Henry offered.

He had them playing lyrically. He got those big attacks and endings easily. He drew out delicacy, and wouldn't tolerate a slow tempo simply because technical demands were a trifle overpowering. He was in strong command every inch of the way, and

First in class C were received by Peg Schweitzer, Linda Gilling and Kathy Verhoeven for a clarinet trio and by Mary Fisher, Tony Driessen, Bill Stoebauer and Jack Schweitzer for a saxophone quartet.

Class C Firsts — The clarinet choir and brass sextet also received first in class C. Clarinet choir members were Cathy Beschta, Carla Uhlen-we doubt that a player ever missed a major entrance because his conductor neglected to hand it to him.

The violin section probably learned more in playing the Dvorak symphony than they have for a long time, because their part was difficult, downright difficult. They, and the cellos were presented with a number of juicy opportunities, notably in the first and fourth movements, and rolled out a pretty convincing tone to meet the challenge.

Venetian Nights Event

Fremont Boat Club to Put Float in Parade

FREMONT — The Fremont Boat Club will have a float in the Venetian Nights Parade.

Dr. Walter Neuschaefer has been selected chairman of the parade scheduled on a Saturday evening in June during the Chamber of Commerce sponsored Water Carnival. Members of the Boat Club also have suggested all floats in the parade be propelled under their own power instead of being towed by a larger craft.

A safety patrol of the Fremont Boat Club and the New London Boat Club members will combine their efforts in patrolling the market races scheduled for the same Sunday. Barney Lemerone has been appointed by the Coast Guard Auxiliary as area commander in charge of organizing the patrol from the turning buoys in the village down the Wolf River to the Bay Boom area on Lake Poygan.

A dance at which the local members were to host other clubs will not be sponsored by the boat club on the Saturday evening of the carnival. The responsibility of Saturday night activities for carnival guests was turned back to the chamber of commerce.

The boat club, however, is planning to arrange the sponsoring of an annual host event which may be a masquerade ball to be held seasonally at a time when the village is not the scene of a mass promotional event.

Appleton Planner To Study Reports Of Regional Unit

Three special reports of the Fox Valley Planning Commission will be analyzed and digested by City Planner Walter Rasmussen for the benefit of the Appleton planning commission.

Commission members said this morning they did not think they knew enough about the reports to make a decision on whether they should recommend that the council adopt the reports.

The three reports are on a model zoning ordinance, model subdivision ordinance and a proposed land use plan.

Each of the Fox Cities communities, including several contiguous townships, are being asked to adopt the ordinances and plan in as uniform a pattern as possible.

Rasmussen is to outline the reports and indicate portions which he believes the City of Appleton may wish to revise to fit its individual needs.

Rasmussen said he would begin working on the reports immediately and have a progress report ready for the plan commission in about a month.

Appleton Youth Escapes From Cell Window at Police Station

Arrest 16-Year-Old When He Sped After Ambulance in City

A 16-year-old Appleton youth squeezed through the window of a cell at the Appleton Police station, dropped about 10 feet to the car port floor behind the station and hid from Appleton police at a drive-in movie for about five hours Sunday night and Monday morning. The youth was returned to his cell about 1 a.m. today after he returned to his home. The youth's stepfather brought the boy to the station.

The escapee had been placed in the cell early Sunday morning. He was arrested by police officers after a high-speed chase through Appleton's north side after he was observed apparently racing with an ambulance on an emergency run on Richmond Street.

Police said they followed the youth at speeds up to 65 miles an hour on Richmond, east on Marquette Street, and south on Erb Street, where the auto headlights were turned off. The driver ran a stop sign at Glendale Avenue, turned east and sped through a parking lot at Hahn's bowling alley. The car went north on Alvin Street, then west on Brewster Street, police reported.

Brake Light On

The youth turned the car into a driveway and then tried to hide by lying face down on the front seat of the car, police said. However, the youth kept the motor running and his foot was on the brake pedal and the rear light was shining, police reported.

The youth offered no resistance when he was arrested. A 4½-inch knife was found strapped to the steering column under the dashboard, police said.

The youth made good his escape about 8:30 p.m. when Sgts. Donald Paulie and Donald Pekar-ske investigated a noise in the juvenile section of the jail.

The sergeants said they heard what sounded like a crash. Paulie checked the juvenile section and told Pekar-ske he could not see the youth in the cell.

When the two policemen opened the cell, they found the youth had opened a window from the inside, and crawled out between the small window frames and dropped to the garage floor. A grate on the floor was caved in.

Thin Metal Bars

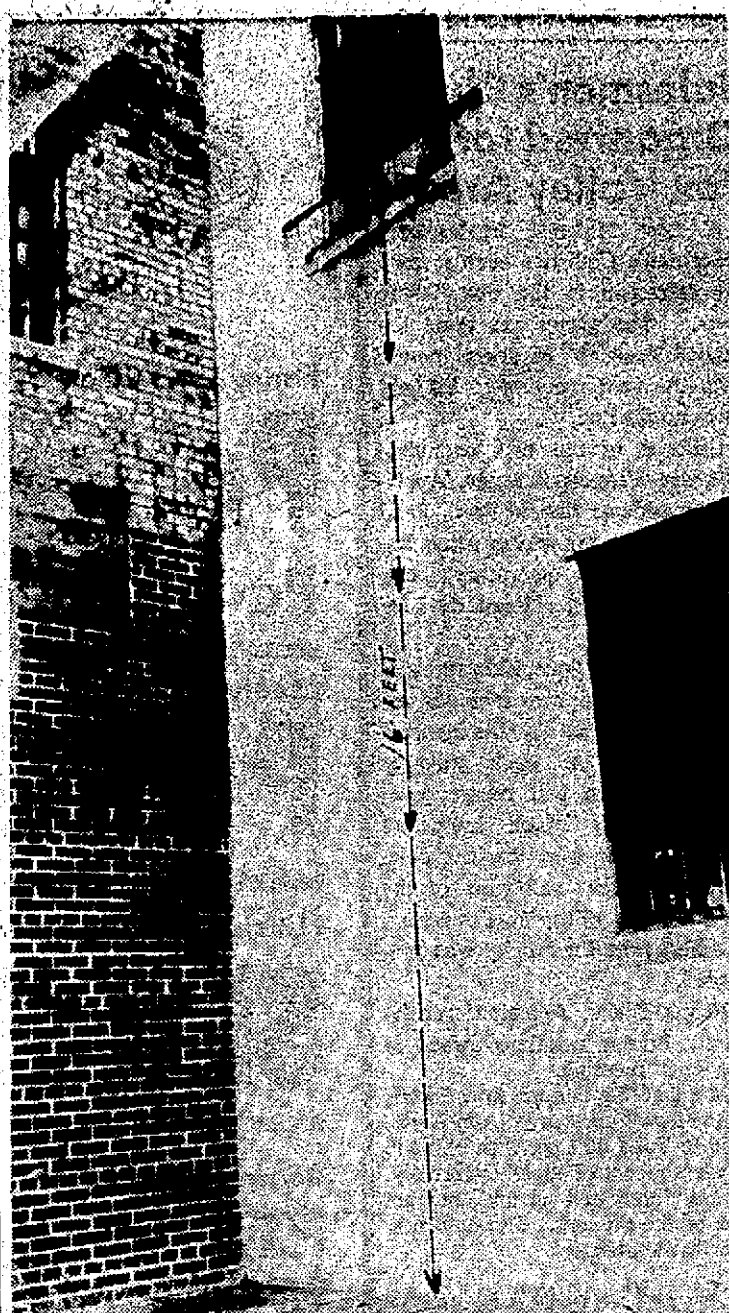

Other cells in the area have wire mesh screen over the window vent, but the juvenile section cell has thin metal bars running parallel to the window and one heavy metal bar running horizontal near the midsection of the window.

Acting Police Chief Harry Salzman said the meshing had never been placed on the window after an attempt at escape from the same cell several years ago. He said the metal bar was placed on the window at the time. Salzman said the metal bar aided the youth's escape by giving him something to hang on to when he lowered himself and dropped to the floor.

After the escape, police searched the downtown area. The youth later said he had run to College Avenue and hitchhiked to U.S. 41. He received another ride on the highway to the outdoor theater.

He was seen by several friends at the theater, and was driven to his Appleton home later by a Kimberly girl and a friend.

The friends let the youth out of their car about two blocks from his home, and he walked the rest of the way, police said. Later, he accompanied his step-father back to the police station where he was placed in the women's section.

A 16-Year-Old Appleton youth lowered himself from the window of the juvenile cell at the Appleton police station Sunday and was free for five hours. The youth later was returned to the station by his step-father. The Youth hung from the bar near the window and dropped 10 feet to the car port floor of the police station.

Lease Rates at Kennedy-Owned Mart Increased

The Merchandise Mart, owned by President Kennedy's father, is boosting some rents 3 per cent to 5 per cent on renewals of expiring leases.

"The raises are necessitated by increased operating costs, principally labor and taxes," Wallace O. Ollman, general manager, commented.

Ollman said not all expiring leases would be affected this year but he declined to estimate the percentage involved. The expiring leases have been in effect a minimum of three years.

The 18-story building, containing 92 acres of floor space and 7.5 miles of corridors, is devoted mainly to showrooms for the home furnishings and appliance industries. The building is owned by Joseph P. Kennedy.

Menting was arrested in Hortonville in November.

Temperatures Expected To Rise 'Above Normal' In Next Few Days

The Fox Cities will enjoy warmer - than - normal temperatures along with the state in the next few days.

Today's high is expected to range in the mid-50s and the mercury will probably slip to the mid-30s tonight. Warmer weather is predicted for Tuesday. A high of 60 is forecast.

Things were looking up today on the Wisconsin weather scene. And if you were looking up you saw a lot of blue sky.

Temperatures were pushing up and the sun was shining in most of the state as the weatherman predicted in his five-day forecast that warmer-than-normal conditions would prevail.

The state, however, had chilly weather through the weekend, with most maximum readings Sunday in the 40s. Madison and Lone Rock set the high of 47. At Superior the peak reading was only 35.

During the night a frigid 14 degrees was recorded at Stevens Point, tying the Marquette County Airport in Northern Michigan as the coldest spot in the nation, outside of Alaska. Lone Rock and Park Falls had 16, Madison and Eau Claire 19, Green Bay, Wausau and Superior 20, Beloit 24, La Crosse 25 and Milwaukee 26.

Pirates Remain Unbeaten by Trimming Mets

Score Five Runs in Third Inning; Friend Hurls Win

NEW YORK (AP)—A five-run outburst in the third inning carried the unbeaten Pittsburgh Pirates to a 7-2 victory over the winless New York Mets in the first game of a scheduled doubleheader Sunday.

A third inning outburst of rain and snow ended the second game and wiped out a 2-0 Met lead.

The Mets, who had dropped all four decisions this season, appeared to be on the way to their first triumph when the rains drenched their hopes as they were batting in the third. They had scored two runs off southpaw Harvey Haddix on a hit and three Pittsburgh errors. In the meantime, young Bob Miller had blanked the Bucs on two singles in three innings.

Burgess Homers
Smoky Burgess' three-run homer was the big blow in Pittsburgh's five-run third of the opener that gave the Pirates their fourth straight victory.

Singles by Bill Virdon and Dick Groat and a sacrifice fly by Bob Skinner accounted for the first of the five runs. Bob Clemente's single sent another run across before Burgess unloaded his first homer of the year into the lower right field stands.

Virdon's triple scored Bill Maz.

Landis Belts Pair of Homers, Drives in 4 Against A's

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Jim Landis, starting his first game of the season after being sidelined by a pulled groin muscle, lashed two homers and drove in four runs Sunday to lead the Chicago White Sox to an 8-3 victory over the Kansas City Athletics.

The White Sox clinched the victory with a four-run outburst in the sixth inning which wiped out a 3-2 Kansas City lead. Joe Cunningham walked to open the inning. Al Smith singled and Floyd Robinson doubled to score Cunningham. Landis then homered over the left field fence.

Landis hit his first home run in the second inning with the bases empty. His two homers gave the Sox a total of five for the series. Last year they hit only one home run here all season.

Juan Pizarro, the Sox' leading pitcher last season with a 14-7 record, went all the way to record his second triumph, against no losses. He yielded six hits and fanned six.

Pizarro gave up all of the A's runs in the third inning. Bob Del Greco and Jerry Lumpe each doubled in a run and Lumpe later scored when Luis Aparicio dropped Norm Siebern's popout.

Red Sox Win Nightcap, 5-4, to Split Twin Bill With Baltimore

Barber Hurls 5-1 Victory for Orioles In First Game

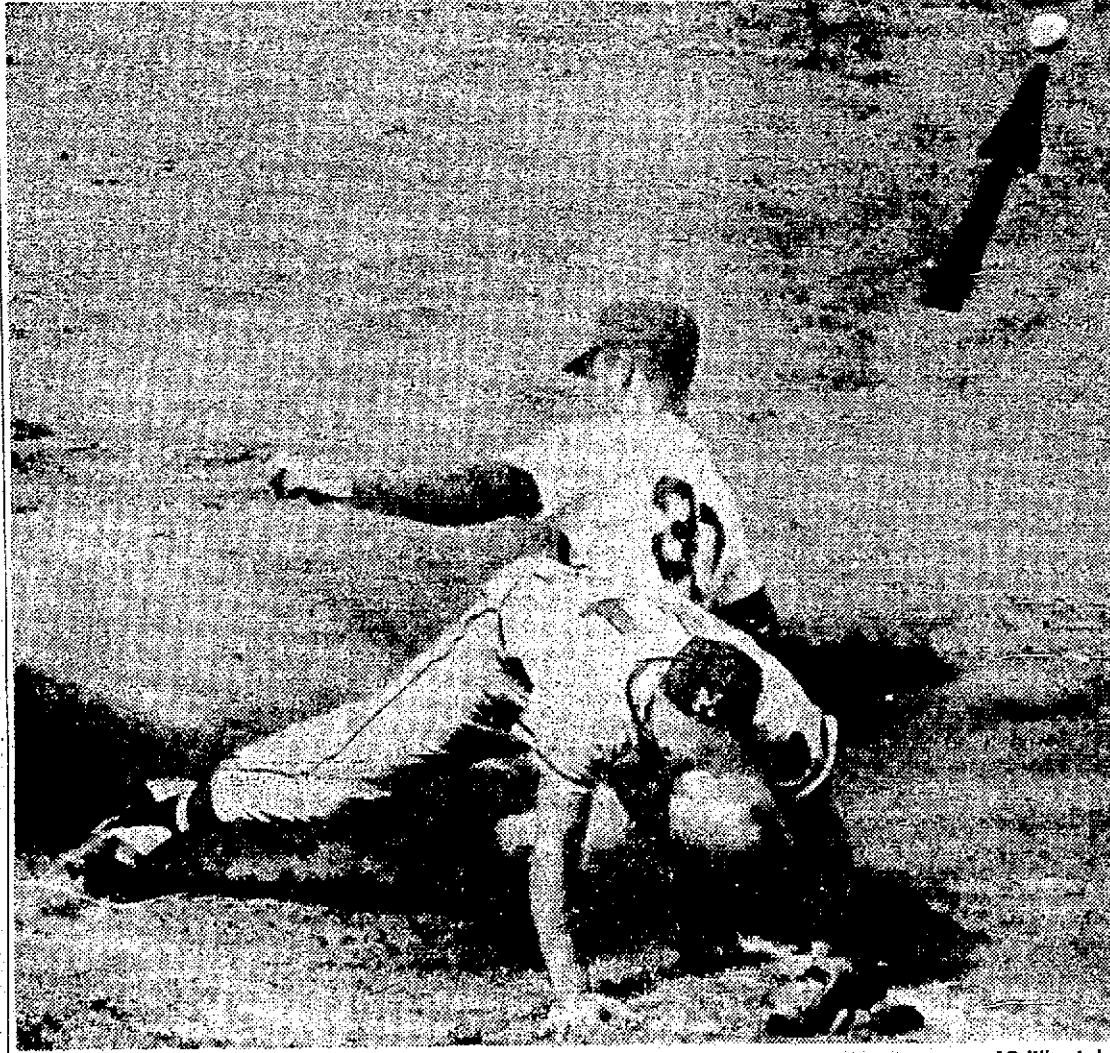

BALTIMORE (AP)—A bases-loaded had hop single helped the Boston Red Sox defeat the Baltimore Orioles 5-4 in the nightcap of a doubleheader Sunday after Baltimore's "only on Sunday" pitcher Steve Barber won the opener 5-1.

Barber, a private first class on a weekend pass from Ft. Bragg, N. C., allowed eight hits and walked six in frigid, blustery Memorial Stadium.

But the 23-year-old left-hander induced the Boston batters to pound his sinking fast ball into the dirt for three double plays

BATTING—Steve Bilko, Angels—Hammered two home runs and drove in three runs as the Angels defeated the Twins 6-3 to take over first place in the American League.

PITCHING—Bob Hendley, Braves—Became the first Milwaukee pitcher to win this season, going the route with a five-hitter as the Braves defeated the Dodgers 6-3.

Milwaukee's Eddie Mathews was in the thick of the action Sunday as the Braves won, 6-3, at Los Angeles to register their first win of the season. In the upper photo, Mathews cracks a broken-bat hit through the middle, driving in two runs. The Dodger catcher is Norm Sherry. In the lower picture, Mathews is slammed into by base-stealing expert Maury Wills. The ball flew out of Mathews' glove, and Wills was safe.

Kids Players About Job Tebbetts Glad to Be 'Back in League Again'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—When Birdie Tebbetts was executive vice president of the Milwaukee Braves, he had practically nothing to do but paper work, and first game by coming from behind. "Come to think of it, I'm just glad we won our first game, whether we came from behind or not."

The game drew 42,349, running the Dodger Stadium attendance total for six games to 235,561.

Back in League
The losing streak ran into five games before the Braves finally scored their first victory of the season Sunday, defeating the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-3. And Tebbetts, apparently as sane as the day he got the crazy idea of managing again, announced with satisfaction:

"It's nice to be back in the league again. I'm awfully glad we won our

Pedro Ramos Sent South to Get His Arm in Condition

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians said Sunday that Pedro Ramos is being sent to the club's Jacksonville team in the International League to get his arm in shape.

Ramos, a 26-year-old veteran right-hander obtained by the Indians in a trade with Minnesota earlier this month, will pitch in an exhibition game for Jacksonville at the Kissimmee, Fla., training camp.

A club spokesman said Ramos probably will rejoin the Indians in New York for the start of a three-game series with the Yankees Friday. He remains on the Indians' roster.

Ramos has pitched in only 13 innings this spring and had worked only four frames before the trade. He had been a holdout with Minnesota.

Braves Score First '62 Win, Play in Cincinnati Tonight

Hendley Pitches 6-3 Victory Over Dodgers; Hank Aaron Socks Initial Home Run

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It was easier to find a smile today in the camp of the Milwaukee Braves who finally managed a victory, their first of the season, by combining the pitching of Bob Hendley with the hitting of Hank Aaron, Eddie Mathews and Joe Torre.

The triumph was an uphill battle for the Braves, beaten in their first five starts, but they made it by spilling the Dodgers 6-3 Sunday.

The Braves left here today for Cincinnati where they will play the Reds tonight before returning to Milwaukee for the home opener against the San Francisco Giants on Wednesday. Bob Shaw, without a decision so far, was picked to oppose Joey Jay, 0-2, tonight.

The Braves were held without a hit for four innings Sunday by Sandy Koufax before they pulled themselves together. They made quite a racket as everything snapped into place.

Hits First Homer
Aaron, who struck out his first two times at bat and had managed only one hit in 20 appearances, cracked his first homer of the season and added two singles, finishing the day 3 for 5.

He drove in two of the Braves' runs. Mathews, who has had only two hits in 16 trips in the first five games, pounded a pair of singles and drove in two runs in going 2 for 4. Torre was 2 for 5, getting two singles, each one good for a run driven in.

The hurling of left-hander Hendley was a welcome change from the unstable pitching the Braves had endured in their five losing starts. In his route-going performance Hendley held the Dodgers, to five hits, fanned eight and walked only three in his first decision of the campaign.

Dodger starter Koufax took the loss and is 1-1. He was followed to the mound by Ed Roebuck and Pete Rickett. The Braves battered the trio for 13 hits and picked up five walks. Among them, the Dodger curvers fanned 13.

While Koufax, who lasted 6 1-3 innings, was holding the Braves hitless, the Dodgers picked up a 3-0 lead. Maury Wills bunted for a single in the first, took second on an infield out, stole third drawing a bad throw from Torre and scored as the ball skipped into left field.

Jim Gilliam singled ahead of Tom Davis' third-inning homer.

Bolting Doubles
The Braves began to move in the fifth, a double by Frank Bolling starting the rally. He scored on a single by Torre. A walk for Roy McMillan and a single by Aaron loaded the bases. Mathews

Vike Trackmen Will Travel to St. Norbert

Open Outdoor Season With Win Over Knox

The Lawrence College track team will seek its second straight outdoor dual victory of the season Tuesday afternoon when it meets St. Norbert at DePere.

Lawrence opened its outdoor season Saturday with a 74-58 victory over Knox at Galesburg, Ill. Showing surprising strength in the field events, the Vikes posted seven first and nine seconds against the Scofs.

Distance runner Bill Stout and discus and javelin thrower Ken Beinar shared individual honors for Lawrence with a pair of firsts. Stout won both the mile and two-mile runs. Beinar copped the discus with a toss of 116 feet and the javelin with 140 feet, 3 inches.

Beinar also placed second in the shot put and high jump events. Reed Williams and Al Bond were the other Vikes to take firsts in running events. Williams won the 880 and was second in the mile. Bond took the low hurdles and was third in the high hurdles. Lawrence's Norm Paulk was second in the high hurdles and third in the lows.

Dave Peterson won the shot put for the Vikes with a toss of 38 feet 6 inches. The pole vault was a three-way tie for first between Roger Nicoll and Dan Miller of Lawrence and Bill Gamble of Knox.

Black Hawks Top Maple Leafs, 3-0

Glenn Hall Turns in Second Shutout of 1962 Playoffs

BY JOE MOOSHIL
CHICAGO (AP)—Having won what they consider was the "big one," the Chicago Black Hawks have visions of successfully defending their Stanley Cup championship following a 3-0 home ice victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs Sunday night.

"The longer the series goes, the better chance we have," said Hawk Coach Rudy Pilous.

"We're still winning," claimed Toronto Coach Punch Imlach after his Maple Leafs' advantage in the best-of-seven series had been cut to 2-1 by the hard-checking Hawks.

Lost First Two

After having lost the first two games of the series in Toronto, the Hawks came on the ice flexing their muscles before a Chicago Stadium crowd of 16,666.

Before the contest ended, the Hawks scored twice in the second period on goals by Stan Mikita and Ab McDonald and added another in the final minute when Bronco Horvath put one into the unguarded Toronto net.

Meanwhile, Chicago goalie Glenn Hall was scoring his second shutout of the 1962 playoffs and his fourth in Stanley Cup competition.

Suddenly the series carried the overtones of the Hawks' semifinal victory over Montreal. The Canadiens won the first two games in Montreal and then fell before the Hawks in four straight outings. Should the Hawks win at home Tuesday night, they'll go to Toronto Thursday with the series tied.

Bilko Homers Twice in Angels' 6-3 Triumph

Grba Gains Win But Needs Help From Morgan

MINNEAPOLIS — ST. PAUL (AP) — The Minnesota Twins couldn't match the home run power of the Angels Sunday and Los Angeles took a 6-3 victory as Steve Bilko belted a pair of homers and Leon Wagner added one for the winners.

The Twins came up with their runs in the ninth inning, rookie third baseman Rich Rollins accounting for all three with a 340-foot homer into the left field bleachers with one out.

The belt by Rollins spoiled the shutout bid of Angels' right hander Eli Grba, who gave up nine hits. He was lifted after Rollins' homer and Tom Morgan finished up without additional damage.

Sixth in Chicago

The sixth game if necessary, will be played in Chicago April 22 and again, if necessary, the seventh game will be played in Toronto April 24.

"Being on our home ice is a big help," said Pilous. "The longer the series goes, the better chance we have. I think we're a heavier club as far as checking goes and Toronto is a tough checking team."

Mikita's goal Sunday night was his sixth in the playoffs and gave him a total of 17 points—three short of the Stanley Cup record set by Detroit's Gordie Howe in 1955.

"We're still winning," said Imlach, "but we were outstuffed, outskated and outthought tonight. We weren't skating and we were far off from our first two games."

"We couldn't get control of the game at anytime," he said. "they wouldn't give us a chance. When we had our chances we couldn't take advantage of them."

The Leafs never gave up but the determined Hawks wouldn't give them a chance. Hall had to make only 19 saves in comparison to 33 for Toronto goalie John Bower.

But Radatz shut the door in the final two innings.

The twin bill, played in 43-degree weather with winds of 15 to 30 miles an hour, took more than six hours to complete. Only a couple hundred hardy fans of the original 10,134 were on hand at the windup.

Woman Fails in Swim Around Miami Beach

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Abdominal pains frustrated Mary Margaret Revell Sunday on the home stretch of her third attempt to become the first woman to swim around Miami Beach.

The slender, red-haired girl suddenly jackknifed helplessly in the water and handlers quickly brought her into an escort boat for an emergency run to a Miami hospital.

Dr. Wayne Martin said at the hospital it was not possible to tell immediately whether spunky Mary Margaret suffered appendicitis or a muscle spasm in her 12 hours of stroking through Biscayne Bay and the Atlantic Ocean.

She was placed under sedatives and remained under observation. Mary Margaret was foiled March 4 in a round-Miami Beach, 14-mile swim when stomach cramps forced her to quit not far from the beach and quite halfway. A second attempt, March 18 was frustrated by rough water which exhausted her.

25,000 Fans Attend Braves' Open House

MILWAUKEE (AP) — While the Milwaukee Braves were winning their first game of the season Sunday in Los Angeles, an estimated 25,000 persons turned out for an open house at Milwaukee County Stadium.

The Braves, who beat the Dodgers 6-3, will open their home season on Wednesday against the Francisco Giants.

Club officials, who estimated the size of the crowd, conducted visitors on a tour of the dugouts, took them on the long walk made by a faltering pitcher headed for the shower, and opened up the dressing rooms for inspection.

There also was a tour of the management's offices and a demonstration of the new scoreboard and a look at the new speed ramp, a type of escalator, that will carry fans to and from various levels of the stadium.

County officials were on hand to explain how to get in and out of the stadium area by using the new expressway.

Economist Sees Boom in Sports

CHICAGO (AP)—Americans are taking up sports at an all-time rate, if distribution of sporting goods is a criterion.

Richard E. Snyder, a Chicago economist, estimates that prospects for 1962 volume of consumer purchases of sporting goods will be 6 per cent more than the volume in 1961.

Largest gains will come in billiard, March 4 in a round-Miami Beach, 14-mile swim when stomach cramps forced her to quit not far from the beach and quite halfway. A second attempt, March 18 was frustrated by rough water which exhausted her.

Craft Says New 'Slip' Pitch Is Reason for Fine Hurling

NEW YORK (AP)—Is it black magic... A witches brew... Mysterious ledgerdom... A potion from outer space that has enabled the Houston Colt .45's to hold the enemy to just eight runs and 27 hits in five games?

Well, it has been a mystery, all right, that is until today when

Dan Gilmore, Weber Pace Vike Golfers

After getting a chance for its first outdoor work in the quad-rangular meet at Knox College Saturday, the Lawrence College golf squad is hoping for cooperation from the weatherman around here.

The Vikes are scheduled to meet Oshkosh State Tuesday, but Coach Bernie Heslton is doubtful about chances of getting the dual in because no area courses have been officially opened.

Lawrence had 10 points in the quadrangular to tie Monmouth for third place, Ripon led the way with 18½ and Knox had 11½.

Dan Gilmore and Herb Weber paced the Vikes with 86s, John Alton recorded an 87, Bill Leeson had 91 and Steve Nault had a 99.

Carey Wickland, the Vikes No. 2 man, was unable to make the Knox trip.

delivered two runs and tied the score with a broken bat single up the middle.

A two-base throwing error by Gilliam put Mack Jones on second in the sixth and Torre's single sent him home. Aaron belted his 380-foot homer into the left field pavilion in the seventh.

Howie Bedell stretched his hitting streak to six games with a single to right with two out in the eighth. After McMillan walked, Aaron singled, sending Bedell home with the final Milwaukee run.

The victory lifted the Braves out of the National League cellar into eighth place.

Army Buddies 'Bar'

Barber Has Simulated Contest During Week

BY GORDON BEARD

BALTIMORE (AP) — If Steve Barber's appearance as an "only on Sunday" pitcher is any indication, even once a week may be too much for opposing American League batters.

The 23-year-old left-hander, a private first class on a weekend pass from Ft. Bragg, N.C., stopped the Boston Red Sox 5-1 on eight hits in the first game of Sunday's doubleheader.

Barber, an 18-game winner with eight shutouts last season, was recalled as an Army reservist during the Berlin crisis. The Orioles obtained permission from the league office to use Steve whenever he is free from service duty.

After whipping Boston in the first attempt at the experiment, Barber said he was satisfied with the results but not with his entire performance.

The Vikes' Don Cass was second in the broad jump and also picked up a third in the 100-yard dash.

This will be the first meet of the season for the Knights. Coach Howie Kolstad has only three returning lettermen: Chilton's Mike Hoffmann, a sprinter; Green Bay's Gary Wouters, a weightman; and Pulaski's Len Jarock, who competes in the 220, the broad jump and the javelin.

The meet is scheduled for 3:30 p.m. in Minahan Stadium.

"Customer Traffic Was Extremely Heavy..."

VALLEY FAIR MERCHANTS ASS'N.

VALLEY FAIR SHOPPING CENTER
APPLETON — WISCONSIN

Mr. Glenn H. Arthur
Director of Sales
Appleton Post-Crescent
Appleton, Wisconsin

Dear Mr. Arthur:

I want to take this opportunity to express my personal opinion and that of the members of the Valley Fair Merchants Association regarding the sales results obtained from the 16-page Eighth Anniversary Tabloid which was published with your newspaper on Wednesday, March 21. All of us were very well pleased.

Customer traffic was extremely heavy on every day of the four-day event at Valley Fair and the brisk sales which took place in most of the stores proves that people were strongly motivated by the ads in the Tabloid. We were most pleased to experience heavy sales comparable to those we enjoy during the pre-Christmas shopping season. There was particularly active response to the coupon specials which the stores featured, and many of the stores reported that they sold out completely of those items which were advertised.

On behalf of the Association, I wish to thank your entire staff for the cooperation extended to us, and to assure you that we hold the Appleton Post-Crescent in high esteem in consideration of the ability of your newspaper to stimulate sales within our stores.

Sincerely yours,

Joe Trudell
